Thousands Of Allied Warplanes Rip And Tear At Germany Again Today

TIMED WITH DRIVE IN COLOGNE AREA

LONDON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Thousands of Allied warplanes, striking from three directions and bearing the insignia of the American, British and Russian air forces, rocked vast areas of Germany today in an overpowering assault which the enemy asserted was timed with the opening of a long-awaited offensive on the western front.

Strong forces of Russian bombers joined in the assault from the east, blasting Nazi troops west of the Neisse river while the RAF and U. S. air forces apparently concentrated on communication lines serving both eastern and western fronts.

PA NEWC Observes

Three weeks ago today was groundhog day.

"Brownout" decree of the government is being well observed in New Castle according to a survey of the city last night. Downtown the street lights were the only visible evidence of lighting effects on the streets.

While there is still some ice along some of the streets, the mild weather of the past few days coupled with the rains, eliminated much of the ice that has coated many streets here for the past eight or ten weeks. Traffic conditions this morning were better than at any period since the winter started back around the first of December. Snow which was threatening during the day may bring back some traffic handicaps today, but during the morning the fall was limited to light flurries.

Thursday afternoon an ash-wagon turning up Mercer street from Washington street lost a discarded Christmas tree, with still a little tinsel thereon. The tree lay on the crossing, and a pedestrian reached amid the branches to remove it to the gutter, but soon withdrew his hand evidently contacting some sharp points. Ere long an auto came along, picked up the tree with its bumper and fender taking it along down Mercer street, scattering pine needles over the street. He got a Christmas tree when he didn't need it.

German Reports Say Americans Launch Full-Scale Operation

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

The long-awaited American offensive against Cologne and the Rhine, delayed for months by soggy terrain, bad flying weather and Nazi Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt's "shot in the arm" counter-offensive last December, was reported in full-scale operation by the Berlin radio today.

Although United States Marines, fighting the most bitter battle in all the long history of the corps, achieved a major victory by bloody seizure of Mt. Suribachi at the tip of Iwo Jima island in the Pacific, the Western Front in Europe surged back into major importance with German disclosure of the American offensive.

Headquarters Silent

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris maintained tight-lipped silence regarding the progress of events, confining its announcements to the progress being made by troops of the United States Third Army pounding toward the ancient German city of Trier.

But Berlin's obviously nervous broadcasts were circumstantial as to details and there seemed little

Russian Forces Smash Across Neisse River

Series Of Fierce Attacks Launched Along Blazing 60-Mile Front, Moscow Reports

PLANNED GERMAN ATTACK FRUSTRATED

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 23.—Russia's first Ukrainian army, launching a series of fierce attacks behind shattering assaults by Soviet Stormovik dive-bombers, smashed across the vital German Neisse river defense line today at a number of points over a blazing 60-mile front.

Formidable forces of Stormovik planes, showering bombs and cannon fire down upon Nazi reserves, cut open pathways for Russian engineers to establish bridges across the waterway.

Crossings of the Neisse by Soviet forces were confirmed in a wireless dispatch by the Nazi Transocean agency which asserted that "German forces were able to prevent the Red army from securing a solid foothold on the west bank."

(The German DNB agency admitted that Soviet troops had penetrated into the eastern edge of Guben.)

Cottbus Objective

The immediate objective of the charging Soviet forces, now astride the Neisse river along a broad front, appeared to be the fortress city of Cottbus guarding the southeastern approaches to Berlin.

Red army troops hammered to points within 16 miles of Cottbus after striking into Brandenburg, home province of Berlin, to reach the Neisse.

The Soviet sweep through a sector from which Moscow declared the Germans had planned to launch powerful counter-attacks followed a Soviet high command announcement that the Wehrmacht lost 800,000

The wreckage of the plane—the Mercury—was strewn about the top of the hill, at an approximate elevation of 4,080 feet.

(BULLETIN)

ADVANCED PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Weary Marines of the gallant 28th Division were firmly established atop Mt. Suribachi on Iwo today while along the slopes of the hard-won mountain their comrades were attacking by-passed elements of Jap defenders with flame-throwers, grenades and Tommy-guns.

ADVANCED PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Feb. 23.—American Marines, weary but victorious in the bloody battle of "Hell's Hill," consolidated their positions atop newly-won Mt. Suribachi today and despite mounting losses clawed their way forward in a two-pronged drive on Iwo island's second important airfield.

Capture of the 554-foot-high extinct volcano which dominates the entire eight-mile-square island was achieved by gallant troops of the 28th Marine Infantry Regiment who doggedly battled their way up the mine-sown slopes and cliffs against scathing enemy fire.

Fall Of Height Announced

Within a few hours after Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' announcement that the Leathernecks had completely encircled the base of the volcano at the southern end of the strategic island which lies but 750 miles southeast of Tokyo, another special communique from his headquarters announced fall of the height.

"The 28th Regiment of the United States Marines was observed raising the United States flag on the summit of Mount Suribachi on Iwo Island at 10:35 a. m. today," was the dramatic way in which occupation of the volcano was announced this morning.

Exactly five days, one hour and 35 minutes after the first Marines of the Fourth and Fifth Divisions stormed ashore on Iwo under cover of a devastating bombardment by massed U. S. warships and planes

Two Congressmen Make Apologies For Disturbance

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—House action to formally reprimand Rep. John Rankin (D. Miss., and Frank Hook (D. Mich., for their Washington birthday brawl was avoided today when both members apologized to the house for yesterday's disturbance.

Hook, the brawny ex-lumberjack who was attacked by Rankin when Hook called him a "liar," made the first apology after Rep. Gene Cox (D. Ga., appealed for "forgiveness not wrath."

Rankin's apology was more qualified in terms than that of the Michigan member in that he stressed that he "merely did what any other gentleman would have done under the same circumstances."

But he concluded: "If I have offended the members of this body, I am sorry. But I was not responsible for what occurred in this house yesterday."

Hook conceded—aad Rankin emphasized—that he had violated the rules governing house debate by calling the slender, white-haired Mississippi member "a dirty liar."

"High tempers, I agree, are unseemly in the consideration of great issues," Hook told "the house." "It is to my regret that I lost mine amid circumstances for which I ask and I hope I receive some attention from the generous members of this body."

Five Big Warships Will Be Constructed

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(INS)—The Navy today announced plans for the construction of five Capital ships—four heavy cruisers and a large airplane carrier—in the Philadelphia area.

A Naval spokesman said contracts have been awarded the New York Shipbuilding Corporation at Camden, N. J., for construction of four heavy cruisers, estimated to cost about 40 million dollars each. An aircraft carrier of the Essex class (27,000 tons) will be built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

According to the unofficial Janes Fighting Ships Review of 1942, the heavy cruisers should carry not less than six-inch guns nor more than 8-inch guns, the spokesman said.

The cruisers will fall in the 13,000-14,000-ton bracket, he added.

U. S. Troops In Italy Capture Mountain Peaks

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Feb. 23.—Two vital mountain peaks blocking the paths to the Nazis main defense lines in northern Italy fell to American and Brazilian troops. Allied headquarters in the Mediterranean announced today, amid indications that still heavier fighting is in the making.

Supported by fleets of Allied bombers and fighters, American troops occupied Mt. Della Torracchia west of the Bologna-Pistoia highway while Brazilian units seized Mt. Castello on the right flank of the Fifth army.

Heavy Resistance

German resistance based on an intricate prepared defense system continued to be fanatical. They counter-attacked heavily, but in vain, against mount Belvedere and bitterly contested the advance of Brazilian troops which occupied the village of Abetia.

Well-informed sources predicted that the tempo of the ground fighting will increase in the immediate future.

As ground patrolling continued on the Eighth army front the Mediterranean Air Force blasted communications in Germany, Austria, Yugoslavia and northern Italy in

The attack was directed against Kurabu Saki on the southern tip of the island while Navy search planes hit Minami Saki off the vital Jap base in a heavy rocket attack.

The surface attack was followed a day later, by a Liberator raid which bombed ground installations on Paramushiru. Five enemy fighters challenged the bomber formation, and four were damaged in the running battle by our gunners.

The communiques also announced large scale air raids on enemy bases from the Kuriles to the Palau.

Cologne And Rhine Goal Of Offensive Along Wide Front

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 23.—American armies in western Europe opened a major offensive against Cologne and the Rhine today and within a few hours established three bridgeheads across the vital Roer river while plunging to the outskirts of Dueren, according to nervous German reports.

The German transradio agency said in a wireless dispatch:

"With the exception of the stretch of front which runs from Dueren to roughly south of the Schnee Eifel, the whole west front from Cleve to Saarburg is on the move in a uniform operation with the strongest forces of men and material so far ever thrown in by the British and Americans."

Under cover of a shattering artillery and air barrage, the U. S. Ninth and First armies opened bridgeheads across the Roer at Gevenich, Selgersdorf and Birkendorf in the Linnich sector, the German DNB agency said. Simultaneously, other units slammed into the outlying streets of Dueren, one of the most important defense bastions in that entire sector, the agency added.

Supreme Allied headquarters announced only that the U. S. Third army made further gains in the salient north-east of Vianden, capturing four towns.

Overhead flew thousands of American and British warplanes which again gutted vast areas of the Reich from west and south, while to the east massive squadrons of the Red air force roared into action.

The German foreign office immediately warned that the reported opening of a west front offensive probably will be the signal for the resumption of a renewed full-scale Russian drive in the east. The Wilhelmstrasse spokesman added lamely: "In any case, German leaders are expecting such a combined general attack."

Allied Headquarters Silent

While Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower maintained silence, the Nazi increased their reports of the offensive's progress almost hourly and in mid-afternoon asserted that a fresh drive is shaping up on the British-Canadian sector. Their reports of Roer river crossings hinted that Juulich, which blocked the Allied drive in the winter months, has been gravely threatened.

At 5:45 a. m. Berlin said, troops of the American Ninth Army under Lieut. Gen. William H. Simpson broke out from their positions 30 miles west of Cologne and attempted a major crossing of the flooded Roer river both north and south of Linnich.

Germans Expect Airborne Troops Will Be Landed

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(INS)—With the Reich bleeding from aerial pounding and crippling land assaults from east and west, Nazi leaders were reported today to have announced a new "airborne invasion alert" in expectation of imminent paratroop attacks.

German newspapers were quoted by the Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Svenska Dagbladet, as warning it is "not impossible" that an assault similar to that at Arnhem will be repeated "on German soil."

The alert consists of a continuous five-minute alarm by both church bells and sirens the dispatch, reported to the OWI, said.

MARINES TAKE VITAL HEIGHT IN IWO JIMA BATTLE

the height was theirs. However, in the meantime, some of the bloodiest fighting of the entire Pacific war had taken place, with at least 5,372 American casualties recorded up to 6 p. m., Wednesday.

Japs Jump To Death

In an effort to check the countless Americans who braved torrid rain and furious enemy fire while inching up Suribachi, the fanatical Japs hurled hand-grenades and "demolition charges" down upon the Yanks. Some of the Jap garrison chose death by jumping from the towering cliffs.

Capture of Suribachi broke a 48-hour stalemate and placed the Americans in position to turn the tables on the enemy, who had bolstered their defense with well-placed fire from artillery, mortars and machine guns which could take the entire island from Suribachi.
With the top of Suribachi in American hands, the Leathernecks immediately set about the slow process of digging out what Japs remained in pillboxes and caves on the slopes and cliffs of the volcano. Though there may be many Japs in and around the mountain, effectiveness of their operations will be hampered by presence of the Americans in the crater.

Move Toward Airdrome

Meanwhile, the Yanks driving of Misaki moved cautiously toward that drome which is situated in the center of Iwo. They met at least two fierce enemy counter-attacks and headquarters declared that they made "only slight gains" in their two-pronged assault which was forcing a pincers upon the field.

Sixteen-inch rifles of American battalions, together with guns of cruisers and destroyers also standing offshore, supported the Yanks advancing on the airfield.
The Japanese counterattack against the left wing of the American front was repulsed, but the earlier Nimitz' communique declared that:

"No reports were available on the action on the right."

In addition to the warships of the 800-ship convoy from which the Yanks laid carrier-based aircraft continued to lash the Jap garrison, with the result that headquarters announced 1,222 enemy dead have been counted in U. S.-occupied territory. Undoubtedly the actual enemy losses are much higher.

Breaking down the estimate of 5,372 casualties announced up to Wednesday evening, Nimitz' communique said they included 644 killed, 4,168 wounded and 560 missing.

RUSSIAN FORCES SMASH ACROSS NEISE RIVER

men killed and 350,000 captured in the 40 days of the Red winter offensive.

Huge Nazi Casualties

Premier Joseph Stalin's announcement that enemy casualties totaled 1,115,000 during January and February commemorated the 27th anniversary of the Red army. He predicted that "full victory over the Germans is near."

In East Prussia, fierce fighting raged near the encircled Junkers capital of Koenigsberg, where Red troops yielded some ground to German counter-attacks at the northern shores of the Gulf of Koenigsberg.

As German forces in Koenigsberg battled to break through for a junction with Wehrmacht units at the western end of the Samland peninsula, the stronghold town of Zinten, 21 miles south of the capital, fell to the Soviets after fierce street fighting in which 4,000 German officers and men were wiped out.

Storm Across River

Storming across the river Stradik and through pillbox and anti-tank defenses, the Soviets destroyed 41 tanks, 10 armored troops carriers and 60 guns in their capture of the town.

While Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army outflanked the Nazi defense bastion of Gueben from the south in its smash to the Neisse, unofficial Moscow reports placed his forces across the water barrier at some points. Gueben is 51 miles southeast of Berlin.

North of Gueben, Konev's troops smashed forward ten miles to the confluence of the Neisse and Oder rivers, 49 miles southeast of Berlin. To the south of his wide front stretching through Brandenburg and Silesia, other spearheads drove to within 56 miles of Dresden, capital of Saxony.

Germans Forestalled

The Moscow radio announced that Konev's drive toward Cottbus, which overran 60 Brandenburg province localities, "took from the Germans an area from which the German high command planned flanking attacks" against Marshal Gregory Zhukov's First White Russian army massed for a frontal assault on Berlin.

Far behind Zhukov's lines along the Oder, fierce fighting continued for the annihilation of the German garrison of encircled Poznan, in Poland, which Swiss radio reports said already has been captured by the Soviets.

Four more suburbs of Breslau, embattled and flaming Silesian capital, fell to Russian assault troops as the Soviet high command announced the Red Air Force touched off towering fires in the Czechoslovak town of Bratislava.

Thieves Rob Cars Service Station

Service station and auto thieves have been active here during the past several nights. One car was stolen and wrecked, two cars were entered and a service station robbed of gas stamps and a radio, according to police.

Dr. S. Myer, Castleton hotel, said someone stole a B gas coupon from the glove compartment of his auto parked near the hotel last night and D. G. Renfrew, 304 East street reported his car was rifled of gas stamps while parked at the Jamestown Memorial hospital.

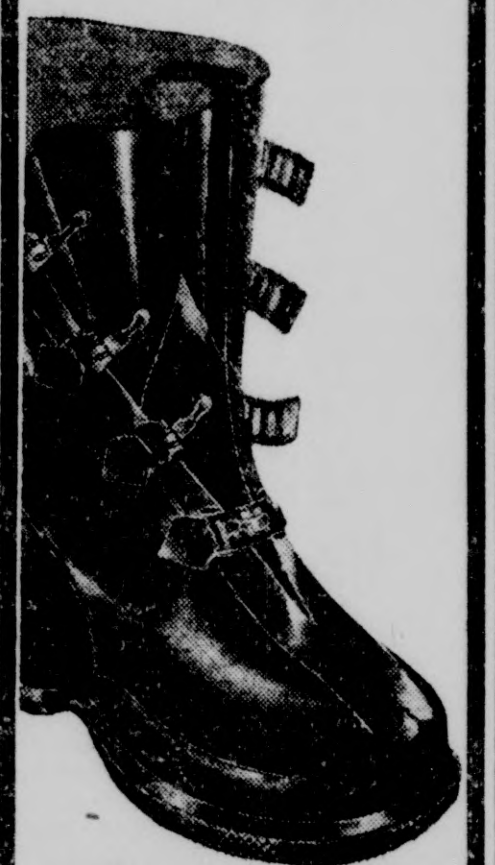

Amoco gas service station, in East street was robbed of a Philco radio and stamps which had been accepted for approximately $300 worth of gasoline.

REELING GERMANY AGAIN BATTERED BY HUGE AIR ARMADA

head the assault, teamed with giant formations which flew over the Reich from the south. For bomb-weary Germany, still reeling from yesterday's record assault by possibly 9,000 planes, it was the 11th straight day of two-way attack.

Offensive Before Cologne

German radios, stuttering and chattering as they told of the bombers' approach, asserted simultaneously that allied armies before Cologne opened their offensive early this morning after a terrific artillery barrage.

Hour after hour the radios stuttered with warnings of bomber trains and their fighter escort's sweeping in from two directions. Enemy announcers said the planes were strung out over Saxony, the northwestern and central sections of the Reich and the approaches to Germany from the south.

Nazi radios warned the armada's spearheads already were over Leipzig and Plauen in the Saxony area where the rear formations were dropping high over the Zuider Zee, more than 300 miles to the west.

Over 8,000 Sorties

Supreme allied headquarters described yesterday's assault from the sky as a "very heavy and widespread attack (upon) the enemy's communications system." Some 8,000 sorties were flown, spokesmen announced, and observers declared that the total number of planes in operation may have reached the 9,000 mark.

Out of these great formations, 34 bombers and 40 fighters were lost, a total of 74 planes. Included were eight heavy bombers, five mediums and 21 light bombers.

Thirty-nine German planes were shot down and 24 destroyed on the ground, for a total enemy loss of 63 aircraft.

Today's German radio warnings, after telling of the 300-mile long sky train, cautioned the homeland that additional formations were pouring in from the south through the Styria and Carinthia areas.

Eleventh Straight Day

Marking the 11th straight day of the latest unbroken cycle of allied aerial bombardment German air raid warning transmitters reported waves of bombers in operation over the Hannover, Cologne and Muenster areas.

The German radio said formations still were soaring in over the Reich. One force heading for Germany from over the Zuider Zee stretched eastward for over 100 miles, Berlin said.

The gigantic aerial onslaught which saw up to 7,000 heavy, medium and light bombers and fighters rook Germany by daylight yesterday was followed up during the night with a fresh Mosquito bomber assault on Berlin.

Weather Good

The attacks in perfect summer-like weather constituted the greatest mass air assault conducted by the allies so far in the war. Planes from seven different commands, in England, western Europe and the Mediterranean, participated in the missions aimed directly at crippling the entire German railroad system. Conservative estimates were that over 7,000 heavy and medium bombers dropped at least 14,000 American tons on targets over a 38,000 square mile area of the Reich. Accompanying fighter planes at the same time poured tens of thousands of rockets into locomotives, railroad cars, trucks, oil tanks and grounded German planes.

American eighth air force heavy bombers yesterday hammered at least 30 targets and at least 24 large railroad marshalling yards were included in the objectives.

units of a surrounded garrison at Mabato Point, on the west shore of the Leguna.

Escape Frustrated

There were "about 500" enemy troops in the trapped garrison, whose efforts to escape were "frustrated."

In the 14th sector, where the allied troops are operating, at least 712 artillery pieces and 705 machine guns have been captured or destroyed since the landings along with "vast quantities of other enemy material and supplies."

Troops of the first corps gained more strategic heights east of the Sison-camp one road in the southern Caraballo mountains, and seized ridge lines dominating the Villa Verde trail as well as enemy positions covering the highway to Batele pass.

Bomb Jap Positions

Four-motored Liberators, at least 100 strong, bombed Jap positions in the Zambales mountain in support of advancing U. S. ground troops. At the same time, twin-engine medium bombers and attack planes escorted by fighters—hammered the Basco airfield in the Babuyan islands, strafing and bombing the air installations.

At least 15 Jap gun positions were destroyed by fighters and light-bombers operating in the Antipolo-Montalban area, according to the communique which admitted "minor damage" was suffered when Jap planes raided the Linayen area where the initial Luzon invasion was staged.

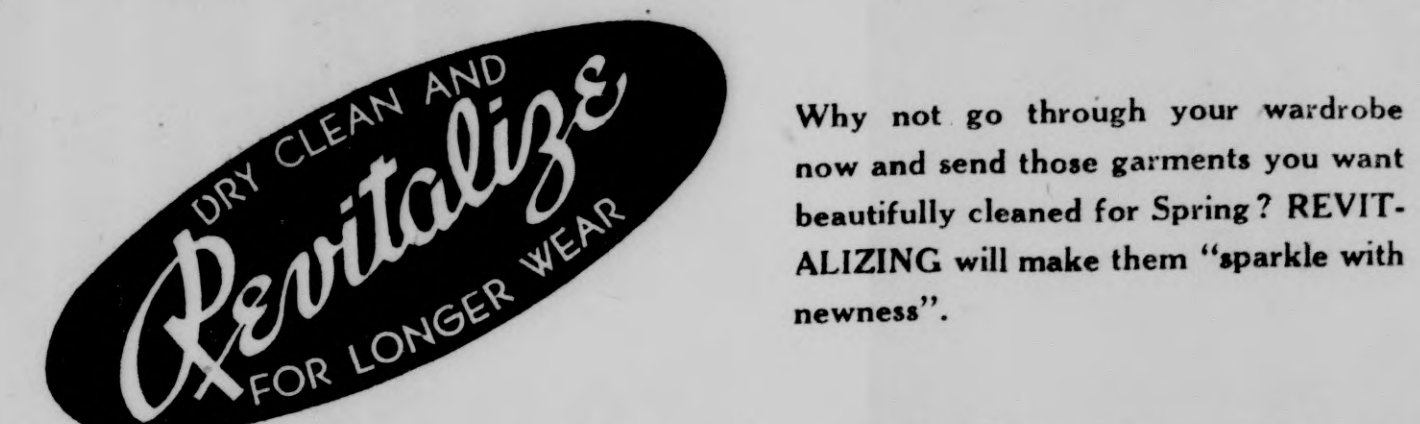

Three enemy airfields on Mindanao were dive-bombed as were three other in the Visayas, on Negros, Panay and Cebu.
Thirteen Jap planes were caught on the ground when fighters raided the Karenko airdrome at Formosa. These were destroyed and four small coastal vessels attacked off the east coast were destroyed or damaged.

At least seven other Jap vessels were destroyed or damaged around Formosa including a 1,000-tonner left aflame off Toko and five freighters sunk and another damaged in "surrounding seas."

reason to doubt that the American First and Ninth armies, aided by springlike weather that sent the air force out in overwhelming numbers, had broken loose from their long-stalemate positions and had surged across the vital Roer river guarding the plains of Cologne.

Three Bridgeheads

Three bridgeheads already have been established north and south of bitterly-contested Linlich, German broadcasts said, and American troops have plunged into the outskirts of Dueren.

Assuming the German broadcasts to be true on the combined American offensive, reported by Berlin also to be coupled with a new drive to the north by troops under command of British Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, is following the classic pattern of Allied attack.

Leut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. and his Third Army first took the initiative a few days ago, crossing the Moselle river at numerous places, cleaning out the important town of Saarburg and throwing the Germans into confusion along a 50-mile stretch of Saar valley fighting front.

First-Ninth Strike

Then, with the Nazis compelled to cut into their thinly-held lines for purposes of reinforcement, the First and Ninth armies struck out, crossing the river barrier in front of them under a merciless avalanche of artillery fire. The Germans reported that between 60,000 and 100,000 shells were fired at them in the space of a few hours prior to launching of the attack.

Uruguay Joins Fight On Axis

Lumber consumption exceeded production by 4,200,000,000 board feet in the United States in 1943.

The springlike weather that prevailed throughout Western Europe in the wake of the continent's worst winter in half a century enabled continuation of the greatest aerial assault in all history. Thousands of Allied war planes, striking from three directions and bearing the insignia of the American, British and Russian air forces, pounded vast areas of Germany.

Coincident with terrific attacks along and just behind the major battle-line west of the Rhine, Soviet Stormovik dive-bombers went into action along the Neisse river of eastern Germany to facilitate the steady Russian ground advances against Berlin and Dresden.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Huge Supply Lines At Front Amazing

U. S. NINTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, in Holland, Feb. 23.

One's first close-up glimpse of this war is bound to be a surprise and shock. First of all, you are not prepared for the enormous complexity of even a small section of the front. The preconceived picture you have of lines and advances is dimmed out in the face of the mass movement that seems to be going on in all directions at once.

Apart from the GI himself and his easy, good-natured self-discipline which makes you enormously proud of being an American, the thing that has impressed me most in my brief stay up here is the scale and diversity of transport on the roads leading toward the front. It looks like a cross between a pre-war week-end traffic jam and the kind of industrial upheaval that would result if you were to try to move half of Pittsburgh a hundred miles by motor transport over pitted, broken roads.

In less than 15 minutes on a highway to the front in Germany, I counted 33 different kinds of vehicles carrying men or guns or supplies essential to the fighting.

The men driving the mud-splattered vehicles that make up this unending stream look as though they were moulded into the drivers' seats a part of the machine itself. Their set, weary faces, many grimy with mud, are seen briefly in the high truck cabs as our jeep swings past.

It is one of the monotonous, boring, wearing jobs of the war, this pushing of transport back and forth over broken, miry roads. The drivers must even change places with the GI road gangs working waist deep in mud and water trying to patch the worst holes.

The driver of our jeep, Pvt. Herman E. Smith of Washington, D. C., is fairly typical. He has been in the European theater, attached to a tactical air force, for 18 months. For 18 months, seven days a week, he has sat behind the wheel of a jeep or staff car and he's damned sick of it.

For one thing, it has become apart from highway hazards, such as a safe job. Thanks to the work of the Ninth Air Force, the German Luftwaffe is almost never seen over the American lines. The monotony of a driver's job is now-days rarely broken by enemy strafing.

Aerial observers over the front lines have one sure way of telling where enemy territory begins. On our side of the line, you can see motor transport strung out along all roads. On the enemy side, the highways are almost empty, and with good reason.

So the brown tide of our transport flows back and forth through shattered villages and towns of Germany. Seeing it, you understand why no modern army can carry on without fuel pipelines that follow the advance. The huge volume of gasoline necessary to support this movement simply could not be hauled over road and rail. Moreover, two pipelines are necessary for gasoline for road transport and the other for aviation gasoline.

You begin to understand, too, why the Allied armies were held up when, after their sweep across France, supply lines were stretched almost to the breaking point. An army today travels on those cans of gasoline you see in dumps along the highways. And the source of supply must be never-ending.

'THE GOOD OLD DAYS'

"The good old days" men talk about. Like these, were filled with many a doubt.

And problem tangled. From Rome's beginning to its fall The tribes of Egypt, Italy, Gaul, and Persia were wrangled. And common folks, and scholars lettered.

Told how conditions could be bettered. Back in those early days they had A run of rulers, good to bad, And times unpleasant.

All ancient peoples used to cry That taxes had gone much too high. Just as at present, Who studies history must admit Man's troubles haven't changed a bit.

A little difference makes who rules. There will be wise men here and fools. And faithful workers; Poets and priests and soldiers, too. And in good times a motley crew Of duty shirkers.

Change comes to law and nomenclature. But scarcely scratches human nature. (Copyright, 1945, Edgar A. Guest)

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:52. Sun rises tomorrow 7:34.

Very often we hear that a lie never passes through a man's lips. He talks through his nose.

It would be great if we could turn off everything we don't want to hear.

Another way of disguising ignorance is to keep it where it won't show.

The best language to use sometimes is to say nothing.

Two fiery young members of a Canadian Scotch brigade were going into the front lines for the first time and their captain promised them $1.00 for every one of the enemy they killed.

Tomas laid down to rest while Sandy kept watch. He hadn't been sleeping long when he was awakened by Sandy shouting: "They're coming! They're coming!"

"Who's a-coming?" asked Tomas. "The enemy," replied Sandy. "How many are there?" asked Tomas beginning to be interested. "About 20,000," replied Sandy. "Hoot Mon!" shouted Tomas, jumping up and grabbing his rifle. "Our fortunes are made!"

Nothing grows stale quicker than a man's mind when he doesn't use it.

Having more ignorance on hand than can be used is a big handicap to anyone.

How difficult it is to make good things popular.

The World and the Mud Puddles

PARTY GOVERNMENT

The founders of this nation designed a Republic, not a Democracy and in order to impress the idea of a Republic upon the people of the United States, party government was designed and parties were to be held responsible for their acts. In other words, if a party controlled the Congress of the United States and things went badly, it would insure the election of a majority of the representatives of another party.

The Constitution set up many checks and balances. The acts of the President could be nullified by the Congress and vice versa, the President could nullify the acts of the Congress. The courts were created with the idea of acting as the umpire in all these struggles between the executive and legislative branches of the government.

Party responsibility has been the guiding star of our national politics. A Republican candidate was elected President by Republican votes and vice versa, a Democratic President was elected by Democratic votes, and any citizen who deserted his party was termed a Mugwump.

During the last twelve years the Republican party has bungled repeatedly and today we have the spectacle of some Republican senators supporting the nomination of Henry Wallace for the cabinet office of secretary of commerce.

A few of these Republican senators seemed to be willing to entrust Henry Wallace with the power of handling enormous amounts of money that have heretofore been connected with the office of the secretary of the commerce, although many of the Democratic senators.

New Dealers, while they are willing to approve of Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce, were unwilling to allow him to control the great financial powers that have heretofore been entrusted to Jesse Jones.

Henry Wallace is the outstanding political figure leading the radicals of all hues in their efforts to make the country over into a Communist bureaucracy. By preserving his political independence, he will be the natural candidate of the Pink and the crimson Reds for president four years from now. Yet there are Republicans in Congress who were willing to let him slip through where he would have the full advantage of all that priceless publicity in building up his candidacy.

If the twenty-three million people who voted against the New Deal last November because they were opposed to its trends and policies, are getting the representation to which they are entitled from their leaders in Washington, it had not been made public. Republican statesmen who loudly claim they were elected to "serve all the people" would better revise their political catchism and return to the original concept of party politics.

Many Southern Democrats in the Congress of this nation do not approve of the New Deal, but they still stick to their guns and remain Democrats.

Free the Republicans do the same.

The Parent Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

PROBLEM OF CHILD'S HOMEWORK

"Dear Dr. Myers—First I have to say: Excuse my English, because 21 years ago at the age of 68 when I went to U. S. A. never I heard any English word."

"My grandson, 9 years old, in the 4th grade, is behind in arithmetic. Please send me your addition and subtraction list of numbers in the stamped envelope."

"As a retired teacher of the Netherlands with 47 years of service in the 6 grades elementary schools I read for years your pedagogical instructive articles in our local paper and agreed very well with your system. Your article about speed drills is right. That system raises nervousness and inaccuracy. Your idea is cut out of my heart."

Disapprove of Homework

"Another method I disagree with is homework. Never we give our pupils of the grades school homework."

"Many times I was a witness when American children did their homework. It was a nuisance even for the victims and for the whole family. Well, never time for recreation or a social life. It happened a girl had to finish 74 arithmetic problems. Half way she started to cry and became so nervous, it was impossible for her to finish her task."

"A mother told me her son was so full of fear of punishment by the teacher or his father, that he could hardly fall asleep and once in a while she gives a start in her sleep."

"In most other cases Dad or Mother or an older brother or sister did the job. The next morning at school he or she can adorn themselves with the borrowed plumes in some cases they have to be sincere or liars."

Doctor's Opinion

"When the parents or pupil asks for homework my opinion is, don't give so-called homework as arithmetic, grammar, religious questions and so on. Better drawing maps or pictures, or figures, reading, learning by heart tables of addition, subtraction, multiplication, division; historical dates, poems, expressions by famous persons; games, crafts, etc., all light, easy, direct and instructive work at the same time. What is your opinion about homework? Would be in my opinion, in regard of this subject, a stimulus for you to put an article in our other papers."

Somewhat as follows, I replied: You write better English than most native Americans do. In the main, I agree with you on homework in the grades. It had better be voluntary than required or of

Current Congress Has Tough Problems
Draft, Lend-Lease, And Wage Control Up
Berlin Defense Believed Due To Hitler

By HELEN ESSARY
Washington Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—This far Congress has devoted the present session to two things—men-power legislation and the nomination of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace to be secretary of commerce. But a lot of other business will be coming along.

The Senate and the House will have to consider in the next few months bills extending the main features of the Selective Service act, the Lend Lease act and Price and Wage Control laws. Major provisions of the Selective Service act expire May 15, and the Lend Lease and Price and Wage Control acts expire June 30.

Bills appropriating additional billions to carry on the war and to maintain the different government agencies will be coming up for action.

President Roosevelt has not yet submitted his expanded social security program, or recommendations for compulsory post-war military training, or for reducing the gold reserve requirements of the federal reserve banks. These things were promised in his "State of the Union" and budget messages to Congress.

Pending is a bill sponsored by several Democratic senators to carry out the projected Wallace program for full post-war employment.

Treaties Coming Too

If the proposed world security organization is worked out in a full-dress, United Nations conference following the "Big Three" meeting, the Senate and perhaps the House will have to pass on treaties or legislation putting it into effect.

The only possibility, however, of House action would be if legislation itself becomes necessary—as the Senate is guarding jealously its constitutional monopoly on treaty ratification.

The projected defense of Berlin against the surging Red tide of the Soviet armies is generally held to be the decision of Adolf Hitler himself and not of the German high command.

Although the Junker military caste was reputed to be in the saddle on the eastern front after Hitler's intuition got the Nazis into trouble, Washington military sources feel that the Fuehrer is once again making the fatal decision which will crash Germany down to ultimate and utter defeat.

One reason is that the German high command—all disciples of the famed military strategist von Clausewitz—would never have edged the Nazis toward their present un-surmountable difficulties if there were any way out.

German Glory

Masters of retreat, military improvisation and delay, the Junkers could conceivably have staved off the Russians for many months. But Hitler's plan produced a rout.

In the second place, Hitler, Propaganda Minister Josef Goebbels, Hermann Goering and their henchmen are determined to do down in a blaze of Wagnerian drama—a bloody twilight of the gods snatched from the pages of Pagan mythology.

The shades of Siegfried the Valkyries and Wotan are descending over Berlin, and Hitler apparently is satisfied that if the end must come, it must come in this way. His oft-repeated utterance that Germany either would win or vanish as a nation appears no longer to have been in the mere wagging of a psychopath's tongue.

Paranetically, some observers are wondering whether the German people and their intoxicating heritage of legendary warriors and crusading knights will feel constrained, after Hitler's last lethal fling and his death, to take much interest in the "Nebelungenlied" and its literary offshoots.

Commercial large-screen television may be introduced in Great Britain within the next six years, according to figures furnished the U. S. commerce department. The department adds that this British development perhaps will be improved with technicolor in the following two years.

AGE AND DISEASE

People are usually pretty well acquainted with the commoner diseases. They know rather definitely as to the period of life in which these diseases occur.

Measles, scarlet fever, mumps and scarlet fever are usually diseases of childhood. They may attack older people but not often.

Tuberculosis attacks people of all ages. No age is safe from its ravages. There seems to be a prevalent opinion that it is a disease of young people.

The tuberculosis death rate of persons between 50 and 60 years of age is higher than for any younger age.

Many persons over 40 years have a chronic cough. They call it bronchitis or asthma or something else. A careful examination sometimes reveals the condition to be tuberculosis.

Any case of trouble in the chest should have a thorough investigation.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Did you read about that recent hearing before the Senate Education Committee in Washington which was considering a bill authorizing a $300,000,000 a year subsidy to schools?

It was brought out at this hearing that thousands of teachers in rural communities struggle along on $43 to $90 a month, and yet keep on with their work in spite of the fact that many better-paid jobs are offered to them.

I think it is a crying shame that in a country as rich as ours teachers and ministers are among the least-paid laborers of all.

I call them laborers deliberately, for their work is labor. It is labor without which there would be no progress, no morals, no decent society.

And yet, the average street cleaner and ditch digger makes more money than many a teacher and minister I know.

You know them and I know them, these conscientious, fine, decent people, who are expected to dress well, to keep up their social life and to act as exemplars of everything that is good in our community and yet to whom we don't give as much money in proportion as we spend for a good steak or for an evening of fun.

One of the teachers who testified at the hearing, a girl who teaches at the Park School in Douglas County, Nebraska, and after sixteen years of teaching draws $30.75 a month, was asked why she didn't get herself a better job.

"But somebody must teach the children," she replied, "what would become of them if it weren't for the teachers?"

And then she told the senators how hard it was to feed and clothe herself on her salary and to make her contributions to the church and the various charities and war funds that were expected from her.

Tell Of Handicaps

Other teachers told now, for lack of funds, they had to paint the walls and woodwork of their schoolhouses, how they had to make repairs and some of them even had to clean the classroom.

What right have we to complain of juvenile delinquency when we ourselves are so delinquent in the treatment of our teachers?

We expect our ministers to be our spiritual guides, to give us moral strength and courage and to lead us in righteous thinking and doing.

But do we ever worry about their troubles and their anxieties?

We expect them to be well dressed and to have nice homes to which we can go on our troubles? But what do we care how they buy their clothes and maintain those homes?

We think nothing of paying good prices for food and clothing, for furniture and automobiles, for radios and refrigerators.

But how much do we pay for spiritual food and clothing, how much for the furnishing and maintenance of our soul?

It is the teacher and the minister who is the backbone of this country. It is the teacher into whose care we give our most precious possessions—our children, and the minister who is at our beds and calls from the day we are born until the day we die.

Don't let us treat them as beggars and receivers of charity.

You pay your doctor and your lawyer—and often for something that is due to your own carelessness.

For heaven's sake let us treat our teachers and ministers at least as well.

If we can pay for wrong, why can't we pay for right?

Censure For Congressmen In Fight Planned

Two Democratic Congressmen Come To Blows In Session Of Body On Thursday

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Resolutions of censure were poised for immediate introduction today against two members of the turmoil-ridden House who came to blows over a mixed issue of Communism and racial discrimination.

Friends of Rep. John Rankin (D. Miss., who attacked Rep. Frank Hook (D. Mich. for calling him a "dirty liar," said they would seek a vote of censure against the Michigan member. Hook's friends countered with a warning that if they go after Hook, we'll go after Rankin.

Between the two factions, the House leadership was working hard to head off any formal action and harmonize the bitter feeling unleashed in the brawl by having both men apologize to the House.

First Since 1942

Strangely enough, the brief but furious encounter between the frail, 62-year-old Rankin and Hook, who is 52, weighs 195 pounds and once was a lumberjack, was the third congressional "battle" to occur on Washington's birthday. It was the first exchange of blows on the House floor since 1942.

Behind the exchange was a record of almost daily verbal attacks over the influence of the CIO, Communism and the problem of anti-racial discrimination between "conservatives" led by Rankin and "liberals" headed by Hook and others.

So intense was feeling over the incident immediately after order was restored that "conservative" spokesmen launched a movement for Hook's expulsion. Under leadership pressure for sober judgment and unity, this was modified to a demand for Hook's censure by the speaker—which the House must authorize by majority vote.

SUPER SLEUTHS

the sort to be graded or tested at school. If required, it surely should not consume over half an hour an evening. Parents who are able and willing to cooperate with the school might, as a rule, do well to induce the child above the third grade to cultivate at home the habit of reading these from some interesting materials, easy enough to read with pleasurable success; or practice on some skills as in the fundamentals of arithmetic and spelling, in case the child lagged in these subjects. Good habits of brief, daily mental exercise while in the grades should be good preparation for more formal, serious homework, later, in high school.

Germany Drafting Young Boys, Girls

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Germans conscripted some of their school children today—boys to dig trenches and fight, and girls for auxiliary services—as their military commentators warned that a Russian frontal assault on Berlin was imminent.

The German official news agency DNB announced that the German equivalent of boy and girl scouts had been taken out of school for war service. The Bund Deutscher Maedel ("Hitler girls" organization) has been "split up in small units which will be employed wherever necessary—in signal units or supply depots or nursing services—wherever gauleiters (provincial governors) order," the agency said.

Natives Adopt 'Hubba, Hubba'

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA—(INS)—Easterners from the United States who chance to travel the isolated regions of New Guinea after the war may be startled by a war cry and greeting which will bring to mind some of the mighty clashes on the gridiron. The call, "Hubba-Hubba," is gaining great popularity with the natives of these tropical jungles.

"Hubba-Hubba" call the natives when an American soldier passes. The catchy phrase, peculiarly adapted to the sing-song New Guinea dialect, can be traced back to the New York University where the players used to chant to pep each other up on the football field.

Tall rugged Captain Bob Connolly of 95 Myrtle boulevard, Larchmont, N. Y., a former football star at the New York University and later line coach at the same institution, brought the "Hubba-Hubba" call to New Guinea.

As a company commander of a rifle company he adopted the war cry as a trademark for his rough and tumble outfit. He's now been elevated to battalion executive of a veteran infantry division, but his boys still use the catchy call.

A short time ago Capt. Connolly went out on a patrol with his old gang. They ran into some Japs in the jungle and a guerrilla skirmish followed. The boys shouted the well known "Hubba-Hubba" as they put the Nips to rout.

Native carriers who accompanied the patrol were much impressed by the phrase and its success in gearing the boys to a quick victory. They returned to their villages and now the collegiate war cry of New York University has become the chant of the jungle.

Cologne And Rhine Goal Of New Offensive

ported by a formidable array of tanks participated in the "big push" Berlin reported.

German forces which were instantly thrown in engaged the enemy in fierce fighting which is still going on," the German broadcasts said.

Break Through Attempt

The initial Nazi announcements were followed by reports that British Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery also had launched a new break-through attempt with an immense "drumfire barrage."

"The fifth and biggest battle of Aachen has begun after a three-hour hurricane of fire from thousands of barrels," Transocean said.

"At 5:45 a. m., the Ninth Army under Gen. Simpson went over to the attack."

Half a mile north of Linlich the Americans "crossed over the Roer with tanks and south of the town they crossed over with infantry."

"American forces are advancing along the road leading to Dueren from the northwest of the town."

The Nazi DNB agency reported establishment of several small bridgeheads over the Roer between Linlich and Juelich and also told of heavy fighting in the whole area west of Cologne.

Enemy announcement of the new onslaught from the west came as the American Third Army forced a third crossing of the Saar river in the mountain drive on the fortified German supply base of Trier.

The offensive in the Roer sector was opened at 5:45 a. m. by American ground forces after the area of attack was battered by a drumfire barrage of thousands of guns from 2:45 a. m. on, the Germans said.

Boistering the American units which stormed across the Saar at two points yesterday below Saarburg troops of the 94th Division achieved a third crossing at a point two miles northeast of Saarburg.

Enter Ockfen

Spearheads of the attacking 94 entered the German town of Ockfen. The advances of troops which scored the two previous crossings to the town from the south were reported in field dispatches to be going well.

Bitter house-to-house fighting was in progress in the town of Serrig where a small Nazi infantry counter-attack was beaten off by the American forces under command of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton.

Across the remainder of the Third

Army assault front, Gen. Patton's men north of Echternach gained up to two miles and one half along a 15-mile long battle area. These forces captured five more towns and entered a sixth.

Troops of the 80th Division scored a fresh advance of a half mile to the north to a point five miles northeast of the liberated Luxembourg border town of Vianden.

Sixth Armored Division forces gained up to two and one half miles across a four-mile stretch capturing three towns. All were in an area two and one half miles south to four miles east of captured Durburg.

The German DNB agency, acknowledging the fall of Durburg and Dahnen to the Americans, admitted that the successful Third Army action on the east bank of the Our river across from Luxembourg had driven a dangerous wedge into the German flank.

Capture Two Towns

The American 90th Division, attacking to the south of the Sixth Armored forces, gained a mile and one half to capture two towns, Holzachen and Lichtenborn, 10 and nine miles southwest of Preum respectively.

German resistance in this sector was strong.

The distance separating the American 80th and 90th Divisions closing the enemy's bulge in the area was narrowed down to five and one half miles.

Field headquarters revealed that at least 1,922 German prisoners were taken by the Third Army yesterday, marking the third consecutive day that Gen. Patton's men have taken totals of more than 1,900 Nazis.

An attempt by a large German patrol to cross the Roer river on the American First Army front east of Schmidt was broken up by artillery headquarters revealed.

At the northern end of the battle line units of the Canadian First Army astride the Goch-Vedem railway maintained their positions against strong German reaction.

Seventh Army Advances

American Seventh Army forces battling toward Saarbrücken cut the main Forbach-Saarbrücken highway in the vicinity of Sieringewendel.

The Seventh took heights giving them full observation of Saarbrücken.

With the clearing of the Nazis from the triangular area formed by the Saar and Moselle rivers, Third Army armored units struck ahead to points within four miles southwest of Trier.

Advanced units which forced crossings of the Saar river below Saarburg continued to move ahead, dispatches from the field said.

Advances of up to two miles were scored by the Americans who reached the junction of the Saar and Moselle rivers overlooking the German town of Konz.

A stretch of the Saar across a front of 25 miles was seized by the advancing Third Army armor and infantry forces.

After the first American elements stormed across the Saar in an early morning attack a second crossing was achieved two and one-half miles south of Saarburg against what was termed surprisingly light opposition.

Good progress was scored elsewhere all along an assault front of 55 miles with Gen. Patton's forces capturing six additional towns and entering still another.

At the northern end of the Third Army assault front units of the American 80th Division beat off a counter-attack by German infantry supported by five tanks east of the Luxembourg border town of Vianden.

The width of the German salient between Preum and Vianden was reduced by another mile with units of the attacking American 80th and 90th Divisions now only seven and one-half miles apart.

Attacking American Seventh Army forces heading back into the German Saar region continued locked in stiff fighting inside the town of Forbach, a few miles southwest of Saarbrücken, gaining control of two-thirds of the town.

Lt. McClelland, Local Trombonist, Is In AAF Contest

New Castle Bomber Co-Pilot Doubles As Musician During Spare-Time

(Special To The News)

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATOR STATION, England—Second Lieut. William L. McClelland, slide trombonist and arranger for the 491st's "Rhythm Bombshells" orchestra, recently participated in winning the 2nd Air Division preliminary of the Eighth Air Force band contest at the Theatre Royal in Norwich, England. An overwhelming vote of confidence was extended to the band by a mixed civilian and service audience who registered their applause upon an electrical-recording Sono-meter.

The 11-piece swing combination of which Lieut. McClelland is a member, has been a democratic outfit ever since it was formed seven months ago. The band, whose members range in rank from captain to sergeant, started as a 5-piece quintet building gradually to its present proportion.

Lieut. McClelland, as all the orchestras officers and enlisted men, voluntarily carries on the bandwork in his spare-time. His regular assignment with the group is copilot aboard a B-24 Liberator engaged in frequent light attacks over enemy territory in bombardment of vital targets. He is a member of Col. A. W. Reed's 491st Heavy Bomb Group, of the Second Air Division, commanded by Major General William E. Kepner.

Before entering the Army Air Corps, Lieut. McClelland played with such well known orchestras as Jimmy Day and Tommy Hicks. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. McClelland, reside at 203 West Grant street, New Castle, Penna.

WOMEN VOTERS GATHER AT Y.W.

Mrs. Frank L. Orth Speaks On 'American Indian's Status
As Citizens'

"What Is An American?" was the theme of the meeting of the League of Women Voters held Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. when Mrs. Frank L. Orth spoke on "The American Indian's Status as Citizens". Mrs. Kenneth H. Beck presided and Mrs. W. H. Humphrey was program chairman.

Since John Marshall decided that the Indians are not a sovereign people and they became wards of the government, about 4000 laws about the Indians have been passed by Congress but no provision has been made for assimilating them into citizenship.

Administration of Indian affairs comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior, so that although Indians now make their own laws, these must be ratified by the secretary of the interior. Mrs. Orth's report also outlined recommendations that have been made recently for improving the status of the Indians and reduction of Indian bureau government personnel.

Other Reports

An analysis of the 6,119 foreign-born residents of New Castle as shown by the 1940 census was given by Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Alec Samuels. Of these more than one-third were born in Italy, 790 in Poland, 373 in Wales, 370 in England, 243 in Czechoslovakia, others in Hungary, Palestine, France, Scotland and other countries. There are approximately 1000 foreign-born residents in New Castle who have not yet obtained citizenship, according to one estimate.

A report on fair employment practices was given by Mrs. Blanche Dillard. Pending Senate Bill No. 101 as the bill the Y.W.C.A. feels will best accomplish fair employment practices, without discrimination on account of nationality, creed, or color. Miss Margaret White mentioned.

Other reports given included one on national legislation by Miss Margaret Uhl, social security by Mrs. W. A. Confer, state legislation by Mrs. Lyle Hughes, and city and county by Miss Margaret Brown.

Mrs. Hughes said that there are 174 bills in the state legislative hopper at the present time, including one sponsored by James C. Brice to lower the age limit to under 16 for cases to be handled by juvenile court.

L.W.V. aims in state and national legislation were outlined. These include elimination of provisions on ballot for voting a straight party ticket and removal of discriminatory legislation against margarine.

Standard Steel Spring Plant Is Damaged By Fire

Serious Blaze Averted By Good
Work Of City Fire Department
In Blaze Late Thursday

City firemen did a good job in extinguishing a threatening blaze at the plant of the Standard Steel Spring Company, on Furnace street at 10:40 p. m. Thursday.

Firemen were summoned to the scene by an alarm from Box 82, and when it looked as though a bad fire was in the making, another alarm summoned additional help to the scene.

The blaze was confined to the roof of the building in which it originated, and the loss was said by Fire Chief James E. Thomas to be not extensive. It started when sparks from a spinning machine used to finish shell noses, ignited oil which dropped down on it from a broken oil line above, causing the oil to explode and shower the surrounding area.

Labor Continues Battle To Revise 'Little Steel' Rate

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Organized labor resolved today to continue its fight for revision of the "little steel" wage formula despite a War Labor Board report labeling such a step unnecessary either as an immediate wartime measure or as a prelude to reconversion.

CIO President Philip Murray described labor's position as "simply intolerable" and made plans for convening an extraordinary session of the CIO executive board "to tackle this crucial problem."

"Our conclusions," said Murray, "will be presented directly to President Roosevelt."

The AFL, too, demanded that Mr. Roosevelt "prevent economic disaster" by changing the wage policy, asserting that public members of the WLB were attempting to save the government's anti-inflation program and cover its deficiencies at the expense of the worker.

There was no definite sign in Murray's statement as to whether the CIO council will withdraw the organization's members from the WLB. Such action has been urged by two big CIO unions—textile and automobile workers—and Emil Rieve, president of the former, has resigned his WLB post.

A statement by the five remaining CIO members of the board said: "Under present conditions the CIO members do not see how they can discharge their very deep responsibility to the nation and to labor."

Story Of Greatest Convoy Disaster Told By Seamen

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(INS)—The story of one of the greatest convoy disasters of the war—the riddling of a Russian-bound Merchant fleet by Nazi submarines in July, 1942—unfolded today as seamen repatriated from German prison camps recounted their experiences.

A group of twenty-five crew members recounted their experiences.

A group of twenty-five crew members whose vessels were sunk in the convoy charged that the Merchant ships were sent to the bottom after an Allied naval escort under a British commander had deserted them.

The seaman, repatriated aboard the Gripsholm, came from nine ships in a 38 ship convoy which was bound for Archangel. They claimed that all 38 ships were sunk under attacks by U-boats and bombers off the Norwegian coast after the convoy commander had ordered the convoy to disperse and each vessel to make for port on her own.

Navy spokesmen in New York and Washington refused to confirm or deny the story.

High-Alumina Clays May Be Used After Arkansas Bauxite Gives Out

By JAMES H. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—High alumina clays which abound in central Pennsylvania, may make the Keystone State America's number one source of aluminum, the department of internal affairs reported today.

"Until recently the production of metallic aluminum was almost entirely dependent upon bauxite reserves of which Pennsylvania has none," the department revealed in a report compiled by the state and Pennsylvania State College mineral industries school. The nation's bauxite reserves may be depleted by 1948, it was predicted.

"As the result of experiments during mostly since 1941, high alumina clays averaging more than 35 percent alumina are now considered to be a potential, and probably a practical, commercial source of aluminum," the report said.

"The common clays are essentially hydrous aluminum silicates," it stated. "They have not been used extensively as aluminum ore because of the difficulty of breaking down the silicates and because lower material has been available in the bauxite ores which the United States produces in Arkansas and imports from foreign sources."

May Have Most In Nation
State geologist George H. Ashley said "It is possible that after the Arkansas bauxite is gone, we may have more than any other state in the union."

He explained that the U. S. bureau of mines was experimenting with high-alumina clays as an aluminum source and pointed out that 1942 estimates showed the nation's bauxite reserves probably would not last more than three years.

"Pennsylvania has a very large tonnage of high-alumina clays," the report said. "How many million tons may be depended upon is not known. These clays occur in quantity in Clearfield county and elsewhere in close association with the flint clays which supply the refractory industries."

In addition to Clearfield county, the report explained the clays were found to a "lesser extent" in Centre, Clarion, Clinton, Jefferson, Cambria and Lycoming counties.

"Although a large percentage of all the clay in this large region is controlled by the operating refractory companies, there are many areas worthy of exploration which are not controlled by them," the report pointed out.

SOUVENIRS

ALBUQUERQUE, Pa.—(INS)—Imagine the disconcertment of Corp. Joseph Cercone when he ran a comb through his hair and struck metal!

Taking his problem to an army doctor at Asheville, N. C., where he was waiting reassignment, he learned a piece of shrapnel about the size of a pea had worked its way to the surface of his scalp. It was a souvenir of the battle of Kasserine Pass.

Planting of fruit trees, bushes and plants is again permissible in England, it is announced by the Ministry of Agriculture at London. A can on such planting has been enforced since early days of the war. Farmers must continue to specialize in ordinary food crops, however, with stress on carrots, potatoes and cabbages.

Amendments Give Strength To Bill To Purify Rivers

Collieries To Be Responsible For Maintaining Purity Standards

HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Administration-supported legislation to end the silt-pollution of Pennsylvania waterways was strengthened today by proposed amendments establishing purity standards to be enforced by the State Sanitary Water board.

Following a conference with a group representing 22 conservation committees, Attorney General James H. Duff said "It appears we are in entire accord on the bill in its amended form."

The amendments drafted by Duff would hold collieries responsible for maintaining standards while the water board would be authorized to order a halt in silt dumping if equipment was available for installation.

Judge Grover C. Ladner, of Philadelphia, president of the Schuylkill River Valley Restoration association, announced that the amended version of the bill, sponsored by Rep. Charles H. Brunner, Jr., (R) Montgomery, would be "fair to the state, the public at large and industry."

"We cannot see how there can be any further reasonable opposition by the coal operators to the bill in its amended form."

Violators would be haled into court by the Attorney General although the proposed law does not bar civil actions by municipal officials.

New Castle Twins Take Twin Jobs In Government Office

Temporarily, Vivian and Lillian King, identical twins from New Castle, may add a little confusion to the Washington scene, but the girls will soon be doing double duty as badly needed government stenographers in the capital, according to Mrs. A. G. Hardy and Miss Gertrude Fleischer, representatives of the Army Service Forces who are at the local employment office this month.

The King girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William M. King, 519 Cedar street, are both graduates of New Castle high school, class of '43, where they had the reputation of being the fastest typists in their class. Their brother, William King, Jr., is in the army and their mother is working in army ordnance.

Vivian and Lillian were interviewed in Pittsburgh for their jobs by a representative of the Veterans' Administration who also happened to be a twin. The King girls not only work alike and look alike—they also dress alike.

Coal-Wage Parley Starts Next Week

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—The War Labor Board's reaffirmation of the "little steel" formula today appeared unlikely to alter the course of the 1945 coal-wage negotiations opening in Washington next Thursday.

The 200-man policy committee of the United Mine Workers assembled in Washington Monday to formulate the miners' wage demands and the course of the 1945 coal-wage negotiations opening in Washington next Thursday.

While refusing to break the stabilization yardstick, the WLB consistently has granted "fringe" adjustments. Its most recent major awards were those in steel, textile and meat packing.

One well-informed government official expressed confidence that the board will make the same awards for the mine workers and predicted that Lewis will obtain increased pay for his half million members without the strike which marked the 1943 negotiations.

More Than 500 Are Still Aboard Liner Gripsholm

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 23.—(INS)—More than 500 repatriated U. S. civilians remained aboard the exchange liner Gripsholm today as federal authorities went ahead with investigation of the background of the passengers.

At late hour last night only 121 had left the vessel, including 15 who were taken to Ellis Island immigration station for further grilling and a man described as a mental case who was transferred to Jersey City Medical Center's psychopathic ward.

Five of the 622 repatriates left the ship on Wednesday, in addition to 463 wounded American soldiers, a group of Canadian soldiers and 46 merchant seamen.

The first piece of legislation by congress after the adoption of the Constitution was the tariff act of 1789, the main purpose of which was revenue, but also protection to certain industries.

Crude Oil Stocks Have Hit New Low

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Pennsylvania, crude oil stocks, vital to the nation's air power, have hit a new low in war-time production despite the government's abortive oil subsidy, it was held today by Walter S. Hallanan, production chairman for district No. 1, petroleum administration for war.

Though every barrel of Pennsylvania crude oil draws a 75 cent subsidy from the federal treasury, Hallanan pointed out that production has slumped at the rate of five million barrels a year since August, 1944, when the subsidy became effective.

Claiming that the subsidy has worked in reverse, cutting instead of increasing production, the PAW official added that oil producers will not risk capital in developing new pools unless they are assured of an adequate market price based on sound economics instead of the whim of an individual.

The salinity of the Mediterranean Sea is slightly greater than that of the Atlantic ocean.

CORSICAN BREW TOUGH
MT. LEBANON, Pa.—(INS)—Capt. Richard E. Grant, 21-year-old fighter pilot home from the Mediterranean, flew his crippled ship for more than 100 miles before it plunged into the sea. He got out safely and reached shore but admitted the Corsican cognac administered by friendly natives "knocked him for a loop."

Diversify Your Investments Is Suggestion Of Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1945—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Feb. 23.—This week let me talk on the necessity of diversifying your investments in order to get safety. In other words—don't put too many eggs in any one basket. If you have $10,000 invested or to invest, divide it among ten groups of securities. The following groups and ideas are not the only ones to consider, but they serve as illustrations:

(1) Manufacturing: Select some company like a paper, textile or oil company which is in a "repeat" business rather than a company dealing in equipment which lasts a lifetime. Thus, beware of many shipbuilding, aviation or machine tools at this time.

(2) Public Utilities: Select the stock of some good company which is being eliminated by the Securities & Exchange Commission and which should liquidate for considerably more than the present market price. Stocks which fulfill such requirements may be immune from stock market sinking spells.

(3) Merchandise Stocks: Visit the variety chain stores in your city. Pick out the two or three which you like the best. Ask your local banker which of these have their stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buy the one which yields you the most annual income.

(4) Fire Insurance Stocks: Look at your insurance policies and buy the stock of the company which has been doing business the longest number of years. I also like good casualty stocks. Both types combine ownership of a business and participation in a large list of good investments.

(5) Bank Stocks: Buy either the stock of the local bank with which you deal or else buy the stock of the New York City bank which your local bank uses as a correspondent. Besides earning money on services rendered, most banks now earn on large government bond holdings.

(6) Building Stocks: These should be good although they already are selling rather high due to the big building boom expected after the war. Choose one manufacturing building materials and one making house furnishings. I also like the cement stocks and certain of the steels.

(7) Chemical Stocks: These also are selling pretty high now, but we are going into a chemical age and many miracles are ahead of us. For instance, Dow Chemical is making products from sea-water! Remember that while our agricultural soils are getting poorer every year, the ocean is constantly getting richer in chemicals and minerals.

(8) Transportation Stocks: Probable everyone should own a little stock of some well established automobile company. Certainly, these should be safer to hold than most railroad stocks. I think nearly all railroads will suffer in the post-war period. Airplane transportation stocks are now fairly high.

(9) Mining Stocks: This may not be the time to buy any mining stocks; but if so, one should buy the stock of a company which is also well established in the fabricating end.

(10) Food Stocks: This group includes the baking companies, canning companies and other food processing companies. Personally, I would rather buy the stock of some good grocery chain than tie myself down to any one of the manufacturers. If, however, you want a strictly "food stock" I suppose one having both "necessity" and "luxury" foods would be my choice.

Please remember I give the above simply as illustrations—there are other good groups and ideas which I have not included. In this great country there are many good companies. But whatever you buy—diversify!

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

(By International News Service)

MEDIA—Look for big news in coming months along the coast of China, says the Rev. W. Alfred Schlichter, a missionary. "I believe that the next invasion will be on the mainland of China although it may be preceded by the conquest of Formosa," he stated.

CHESTER—The line of people formed in front of a Chester store was distinct in two ways. It contained only women and cigarettes were not on sale. Manager Ted Saunders was forced to hop atop a counter and call for order as the feminine brigade converged on the counter—which offered sheets for sale.

ERIE—Patrolman Eddie Allen nemesis of Erie's numbers syndicates, started out on what he thought was a one-man raid against racketeers but before his campaign got underway he was warned over the telephone that he could expect to "be encased in cement" if he persisted in his drive. He laughed it off.

CHAMBERSBURG—The restaurant at the Army's nearby Letterkenny Ordnance Depot provides more than 3500 meals for workers within two hours each day and does a $400,000 business each year.

HARRISBURG—The beautiful two and a half mile concrete promenade flanking the Susquehanna river has been disfigured by careless residents who dump refuse and even deposit dead animals on the steps.

BROWNSVILLE—Harry Levy was only trying to be helpful when he hailed a passing Chinese gentleman and asked him if he was looking for a laundry location. The visitor was Dr. Bangnee A. Liu, internationally-known speaker who was scheduled to address the local Rotary club.

CHESTER—When Coxswain Charles A. Halvorsen left for the Navy December 12, 1943 he asked his mother not to remove the Christmas tree in the living room, so for one year she kept the tree watered. On February 19, 1945 Halvorsen returned home and found the tree in place and spreading its branches over a host of gifts. He even received Christmas cards.

NORRISTOWN—Comm. George H. Earle, Pennsylvania's first Democratic governor in 44 years, does not permit politics to interfere with his selection of a lawyer. When Mrs. Earle filed suit for divorce she retained Republican Rep. Lloyd Wood of nearby Collegeville while the former governor engaged Republican Assemblyman Charles H. Brunner, Jr.

PHILADELPHIA—Local magistrates ignored the wartime shortage of snow shovels and handed out notices to 372 householders to drop around to court and explain their failure to clean paths through the snow in front of their homes.

Some children's feet may grow from one to three sizes larger in as little time as four weeks.

Hot Towels and Emerald Oil
Tonight for Blessed Relief

Tonight on your way home get a bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil from the drug store. Before bedtime apply a good hot towel just as hot as you can bear it and keep it on and hot for about 5 minutes to open the pores. Dry thoroughly then apply a little of the oil and rub on briskly with a good massage 'till it disappears. Cover up and go to sleep. In the morning for good measure another oil application—no hot towel. You'll get the surprise of your life. You'll be amazed at the blessed relief you get—back on the job happy and much more comfortable. Keep it up for a few days. Thousands of bottles are sold annually for tired aching feet and legs. You can get Moone's Emerald Oil at any good drug store.

YOUNGSTOWN BOY KILLS BROTHER IN GAME OF "COWBOY"

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 23.—Another supposedly empty gun was the cause of the death of six-year-old Teddy Rittiger of Youngstown, who was killed instantly when his seven-year-old brother, Bernard, shot at him with a .38 caliber pistol.

The boys were playing cowboy when Bernard, who thought the revolving chamber was empty, fired the gun at Teddy as he was lying on the bed in which his mother, Mrs. Lillia Rittiger, was sleeping.

The government and constitution of Liberia are closely modeled after those of the United States.

Patton's Army To Destroy Great German Area

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's third army again breaks into spectacular action. Up to Wednesday night, it had captured 40 German towns and on Wednesday seized 2,400 Nazi prisoners—the equivalent of about one German regiment.

George Patton is a Spartan. At his age, he is possessed of more physical fitness and energy than most men ever know. All his life he has trained himself to seek danger.

A number of years ago he had a farm south of Washington. It was well stocked with riding horses and hunters. On that place, Patton had built several courses of jumps. All were of solid construction—timber or stone. There were no jumps made of brush that a horse could jump through.

Patton Leads

One week-end he took a number of guests on a cross-country ride with him. Most of the ground was rocky, all of it was covered with ice and sleet. It was most unsure footing for horses. Patton always led the field of riders and he always took the most difficult jumps.

Asked why he had, on every occasion, ridden the most dangerous course and jumped the highest obstacles Patton laughed. He said: "I did that, my friend, and I've done it all my life, to cure my soul of fear. Every regular soldier knows that normally he will someday be called upon to meet the supreme test—that is, the control of fear in battle. I have dedicated my life to physical fitness and the control of fear."

That is why he cannot tolerate softness or fear in others.

More Than Spartan

Patton is much more than a Spartan. He is possessed of the boundless energy already mentioned, and of incomparable dash. He is a realist. His life-long training has been in the cavalry which is noted for gallantry—and results. To Patton the shortest distance between two points is a straight line. He has no time for circuitous routes. He has no time for idle preliminaries. He has no time for useless talk.

Gen. Frank McCoy, who also is a cavalryman, not long ago said: "Patton is one of the finest, hardest, toughest soldiers I have ever known. He cannot be in the backfield—he must be at the front, but he is tactless because he is blunt and direct. He has no time for diplomacy. He wants results, and at once."

Patton's army will destroy one of Germany's great industrial areas. It is driving east into the mountainous country that the Germans will probably retire to after the fall of Berlin. Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s, fighting record has only just commenced.

SPOTLIGHT Of Today

KEY OFFICERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Behind the great fleets of heavy bombers unleashing an increasing fury upon an already battered Germany, there are dozen key Allied officers who have long advocated air power and who have fashioned into the weapon it is today.

Notable among them are Lieut. Gen. Carl Spaatz, commanding general of the U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Travers Harris, commander of the RAF bomber command.

These are the two men who run the four-engine bomber show, sending their fleets out day and night in a mammoth pattern which now encompasses a hundred targets in one 24-hour period.

Born the son of a Pennsylvania-Dutch newspaper publisher, Spaatz went to West Point, was one of the first 25 army men to earn his wings and as a major commanded the famous army plane question mark on its six-day continuous refueling flight over Southern California.

He grew with the Army Air Forces and as leader of the Eighth Air Force in England, then the 15th in Africa, he saw them develop into the armadas they are today.

Harris has had a similar career. Back in 1924 he commanded one of the first RAF night bomber groups and put his planes through more night flying than any other air forces then in the world. Red-faced, hearty, with cold blue eyes, he has been criticized for expecting too much from the strategic bombing carried out by the flying trucks he sends over the Reich night by night. He has been ruthless in a ruthless war and one of his squadron leaders has commented: "We love Harris. He's so bloody inhuman."

Clara Barton, at the age of 77, was in charge of a Red Cross ship during the Spanish-American war.

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS UNTIL 9

'The Gypsy Baron' Pleases Large Crowd

New York City Opera Company
Does An Excellent Job With Strauss Operetta

If Johann Strauss could have returned to the Cathedral Thursday night, we believe the waltz king would have been satisfied with the New York City Opera company's presentation of his "Gypsy Baron". About 1700 members of the Metropolitan Concert Guild evidenced their enjoyment of the operetta in the kind of applause that is food for an artist's soul.

"The Gypsy Baron" was the peak of this season's guild offerings. It was a satisfying performance, musically, dramatically, mechanically. The voices were young and fresh and pleasing, the acting was done naturally, and the staging was a piece of work that set the whole performance. And may we say the costumes looked as though the road tour was just starting, instead of finishing, as it does in Pittsburgh Saturday night.

"Boy Meets Girl"

Like some of the modern composers, Strauss cared little for plot when he had good music. The plot of "The Gypsy Baron" is merely an early version of "Boy Meets Girl". Barinkay, an exiled land owner, has been resorted to citizenship, meets Saffi, a gypsy girl living on his lands, marries her, finds treasures on his land, discovers Saffi is a princess in disguise, joins the army when he leaves Saffi, believing he is not good enough for her. In war he becomes a hero, is rewarded by the empress who makes him a baron, reunites him with Saffi, and there you are.

Doris Doree, a Metropolitan Opera dramatic soprano, had the part of Saffi and we doubt if ever Saffi was better presented. Miss Doree has a warm voice of unusual range and a dramatic ability that stood her out in the cast. As to her appearance, she can thank Dame Nature, as we do.

Opposite her playing Barinkay was a young tenor, Richard Tyrol, who has an excellent voice, who did a pleasing job but who we believe will be even better in a season or two.

Teresa Gerson had the part of Cipra, the gypsy woman, and here was more real artistry. The part is a difficult one but was well handled. Miss Gerson gave the part of Cipra stature with her lush contralto voice and a dramatic ability that was delightful.

Norman Rowland had the part of Szupan, the rich pig farmer, and Hubert Norville the part of Camero, the imperial commissioner, both comedy parts and both well done.

The part of Arsena, the farmer's daughter, was taken by Helen George and done acceptably with Grant Garnell taking the part of Count Homony. If you remember John "Tarnalis" Thomas in the "Mikado" you have something of the idea of Mr. Garnell's appearance. The ballet was small but good.

Young and lissome, the six girls pirouetted through a number of delightful routines and more than earned the applause they won. The orchestra was under the direction of Michael Kuttner and for the orchestral work and the direction of the operetta and the direction of the stage manager but in this case John Newfield deserves mention. The lighting was superbly done, the cast was eued right and while Mr. Newfield wasn't seen by the audience his excellent work was.

If the Metropolitan Concert Guild brings an attraction to New Castle next season as lovely and as well presented as "The Gypsy Baron", selling memberships should be easy. It is the kind of entertainment prescribed for war nerves, or for anyone who likes two hours of enchanting music, excellent acting and may we get this in here, a bevy of young lovelies that sends you home giving three cheers for Dame Nature.

On the program David W. Rees, president of the Metropolitan Concer Guild, announced that the Salzedo Concert Ensemble would be presented Saturday, April 7, instead of Josef Lhevinne, pianist, who died recently. This number will conclude the 1944-45 season.

PEARL HARBOR.—(INS)—The world's busiest airmail center—the Naval Air Transport Service's Hawaiian terminal—handled mail weighing a grand total of 32,700,000 pounds in 1944 it was announced today. Gals Who Refuse Safety Clothing Might Be Scalped

Still Some Who Won't Dress According To Rules, Safety Analyst Says

By FRANCES SPATZ
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Machinery in war plants can scalp more women than were ever scalped by the Indians.

That's the verdict of Jack M. Peterman, industrial safety analyst of the bureau of labor standards, Department of Labor, who is engaged in solving industry's safety problems.

"Vanity is still one of the greatest war plant hazards," said Peterman, "and there are still many women who come to work dressed for a scalping."

Mary Got Scalped

He recited a little parody about these girls:

"It had a lovely sheen.
"The caught it in a whirling shaft.
"Which scalped her nice and clean."

"The only really safe headgear is a visored cap which covers every head and which also has a stiff crown. The stiff crown is important because it signals a warning when the head comes close or touches machinery," he declared.

Slacks Overdone

Peterman said there are still women who like to come to work in loose flowing sleeves, fancy neckpieces and jewelry. "There's nothing machinery will take to better than these dangling items," he stated.

"Sweaters, like jewelry, are just one more hazard, where there is work to be done," he said. "In the past place they do distract the attention of other workers. In the second place they have soft stretchy surfaces and long fine hairs which make them catch and cling to almost anything. The hairs, like the hairs of one's head, can wind around moving parts."

Peterman declared that French heels, toeless shoes and wedges are still among the unsafe footwear present in war plants. "These may be dainty for dress," he said, "but they are deadly for work."

Anyone going up a ladder in wedges is almost certain to come clattering down in a heap, he asserted.

The natives of Estonia are mainly of Finno-Ugric stock and are related to the Finns and Hungarians.

Smoke Victim

WHEN Norman Bell, 26, Baltimore, Md., collapsed in a "cigarette line" gathered at a tobacco store and stated that he had gone without breakfast to go smoke-shopping, he broke into the national news. Recovered now, he is shown with some of the harvest gathered in a shop-to-shop tour. (International)

NINTH SON CALLED

LEHIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—(INS)—Rudolph H. Desouza, 64, of Altoona, county chairman of the Blair County War Finance committee and district superintendent of Baltimore Life Insurance company, today was reported to have died at the Altoona hospital after an extended illness.

A resident of Altoona since 1904, Desouza served for three years as president of the Altoona Chamber of Commerce and figured prominently in the organization of the Altoona Community Chest and the Blair County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Can't Get Around Curfew By Having Candles For Lights

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Plans which Pittsburgh tavern proprietors might have had for getting around the curfew by following a Newark cafe's proposal to adopt a post-midnight candlelight hour, were nipped at the wick today when War Manpower commission officials said that the candles were "out as far as we are concerned."

The plan had already been previewed by one cafe owner who turned off the heat at 10 p. m., switched off the electric lights at midnight and used 40 candles until the legal closing hour of 2 a. m.

WMC authorities in Washington, however, had already come out with a draft to the effect that the scheme would defeat "some of the purposes of the order which is to save transportation and manpower as well as fuel."

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 23.—(INS)—Rudolph H. Desouza, 64, of Altoona, county chairman of the Blair County War Finance committee and district superintendent of Baltimore Life Insurance company, today was reported to have died at the Altoona hospital after an extended illness.

Letters From Prisoner Of War In Germany

(Editor's Note: Following is another in a series of "letters from a prisoner of war", written from a German prison camp by INS War Correspondent Lowell Bennett, who was captured by the Nazis after he was shot down during an RAF raid on Berlin.)

By LOWELL BENNETT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Here's more on our camp band and our proposed post-war tour of the United States.

The band also includes: drums, Lt. A. E. "Bud" Vokaty of Minneapolis, Minn.; guitar, Lt. Bill McConnell of Louisville, Ky.; vocalist, Lt. Bob J. Cavendish of Huntington, W. Va., who sang with Sammy Kay's orchestra before entering the army, and the band's specialist—guitar-vocalist Lt. Bill A. Huckensmith of Frankfort, Ky.

Huckensmith, who specializes in cowboy ballads, formerly sang on radio station WLW and on the "Renfro Valley barn dance" program.

The band intends to make recordings as soon as the members get back home and will try to get radio time on Red Cross programs. The members also intend to tour the United States and take along our recent "Kriegspiel" exhibit of crafts.

We number several thousand here and everybody agrees that the band ranks close to the top name bands in the United States and England. The band has been the biggest morale factor in the camp.

The band plays several evenings per week in the mess hall. All members of the band are extremely eager to work with the crafts exhibit in a tour of the United States, to raise money for the Red Cross, to which everybody is very grateful.

Seek Reconversion Of Reynolds Into Veteran Hospital

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Pointing out that Camp Reynolds, formerly a personnel replacement depot and now a canvas repair shop and prisoner of war camp, still has a completely equipped hospital with beds for 1200 men, a committee from the Mercer County War Problems committee is in Washington, D. C., to attempt to get the camp converted into a veterans' hospital.

The groups was to speak with Senators Guffey and Myers and Congressman L. R. Rodgers, as well as officials of the Veterans Administration and army officers. Those who made the trip are Judge George H. Rowley, C. D. Kearns, Luther J. Kuder and John Grajcar.

Mexican Pilots Complete Tough Training Course

MAJORS FIELD, Tex.—(INS)—A flag presentation ceremony was held here recently for the 201st Mexican Fighter Squadron when it completed training with the Army Air Forces at this P-47 fighter base near Greenville, Tex.

The squadron, which is the first unit of the Mexican Air Force to be trained in the United States since Mexico's entry into the war, concluded eight months of training a few days before the ceremony. A specially made flag was presented to President Avila Comacho's personal representative, General Francisco L. Urquiza, under secretary of national defense, by a high-ranking U. S. Army Air Forces officer.

Texas skies have been filled for the past three months with the roar of white-nosed P-47 Thunderbolt fighters piloted by the Mexican officer trainees. The squadron used AAF aircraft and equipment, and received instruction from AAF personnel. The squadron, with a complement of nearly 300 officers and enlisted men, entered the United States in July 1944 at Laredo, Tex. The enlisted men had been selected through stiff competitions, while the officers stood rigid tests for eligibility.

Alienation Suit Gets Man Nothing

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—(INS)—An Allegheny county common pleas court jury, five of whose members asserted that they reached their verdict against "their wishes" today awarded Alden G. Tenderman, McKeesport, exactly nothing in his $35,000 alienation of affections suit against his in-laws.

As soon as the sealed verdict, reached Wednesday night after six hour deliberation was read before Judge Alexander Cooper, Tenderman's counsel, William T. Carbett, polled the jury. Carbett asked the judge to call a mistrial, saying he would file motion for a new one. Judge Cooper affirmed the verdict, however, and declared that a court "en banc" will decide if a new trial will be granted.

In the first alienation suit in Pittsburgh in years, Tenderman charged his in-laws, Mrs. and William P. Brown, McKeesport, of "poisoning" their daughter, Phyllis, love for him. Married secretly in December 1942, Tenderman said they never lived together because her father refused to "accept him".

Nazi Prisoners Are Disciplined

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 23.—(INS)—Approximately 1,300 German prisoners of war confined at Camp Ashby, Va., have been placed on bread and water rations after staging a "sympathy strike" and refusing to work, headquarters of the Army's Third Service Command announced today.

"The prisoners' strike was in sympathy with a group of approximately 65 German prisoners who staged a 'walk-out' yesterday in protest against disciplinary measures taken against a single prisoner of war who refused to work the day before," command headquarters said.

Missionary Women of the Christian church and their families observed Brotherhood Day with a dinner in the church Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock. Following a talk by the pastor, the meeting closed with the missionary benediction.

Pinney was enroute to Mexico City, a company spokesman said. The 48-year-old executive had been with the firm for the past 29 years. His wife resides at the Warwick Hotel in Philadelphia.

Charge Strike Is Sabotage Effort

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—(INS)—A strike which broke out in the B-29 bomber engine department of the Dodge plant was branded by the Chrysler corporation today as "a carefully organized strike designed to sabotage the war effort."

The entire plant, employing 13,000 workers, was threatened with closing after more than 1,968 men left their jobs at 9:30 a. m. this morning.

In strikes and other labor disputes throughout the city a total of 3,136 war workers including the Dodge strikers were off their jobs today.

According to a company spokesman, the Dodge strike was called after the company discharged seven employees for "loafing on the job, failure to keep up their war production schedules and insubordination."

Traffic was delayed on Highland avenue, at the city limits last night, when the high wind blew over a signboard along the road.

Constable Ted Altman and his deputies were on hand directing traffic until the obstruction could be removed.

Local Navy Flier Is In On Sinking Of Jap Cargo Ship

Paul R. Rice, aviation radioman first class of New Castle, is one of the crewmen on a navy torpedo-bomber plane which is credited with one-half of the sinking of a medium sized Japanese cargo ship at Ansan naval base in the Pescadore Islands off the coast of Formosa.

Rice's plane and another torpedo plane both went in on the dock from 4,000 feet and both dropped their bombs on the ships tied up together. When the Yanks looked back, there was only one ship left, its bow in the center of a bomb bubble.

The plane on which Rice was serving was piloted by Ensign Robert B. Wightman, Jr., 21-year-old flier from Orleans, Vt. The men were serving with Vice Admiral McCain's fast carrier task force in the China sea.

NEED RECRUITS FOR COMPANY F

Men 17 To 50 Are Sought For Pennsylvania State Guard Company In City

You're not in the armed forces and of course there is a reason for it. You may be over 38, your physical condition was not quite good enough or you may be important in essential war industry.

But there's still a tiny spot for you, if you want to fill it. Right now there is a need for about 50 recruits in Company F, 16th infantry, Pennsylvania State Guard, which has its headquarters in the Joseph V. Cunningham armory. Men from 17 to 50 who are in reasonably good physical condition are wanted for the guard service and Lieut. Robert F. Galbreath, Jr., the commanding officer, would like to fill the roster before inspection which is March 14.

The company drills every Monday night in the armory and any one interested in serving can enlist any Monday night. The service is interesting. It is a part of the home security program and in the summer there is a camp period at Indian town Gap which is enjoyable.

The roster of the company has been riddled several times by men being inducted into service as they reached the age. Lt. Galbreath is anxious to fill the roster before camp. Why not look into the idea and enlist?

Mink Farm Comes From Aching Tooth

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—(INS)—An aching tooth has developed into what is one of the largest mink farms in Western Pennsylvania.

Six years ago while O. B. Weinman, of Wexford, was having the troublesome tooth treated, he discussed his ambition to be a chicken farmer with his dentist, who suggested mink-raising instead. In a short time, both doctor and patient had talked themselves into being mink-farmers.

Today the partners have 1,200 cages on their Wexford farm with good chances that the cages will be filled by late spring. With OPA ceiling prices for mink skins set at $35 a pelt, Weinman and Dr. Baldwin, who hope to pelt over 700 mink this year, should be able to lie back in their dentist chairs and watch the furs go by.

Before World War II Estonia exported large quantities of butter, eggs and bacon annually to England and Germany.

Fumes From Oven Kill Aged Woman

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 23.—Discovered on Thursday after neighbors noticed that her newspapers had not been taken in, Marie E. Sheering, 80, was found dead from Monoxide fumes from an open oven and from an instantaneous water heater in the basement.

The aged woman, who had lived alone for many years, had been dead since Monday or Tuesday according to Coroner J. Charles Dengler.

Tons Of Coal Burn In Railroad Blaze

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 23.—From 5,000 to 6,000 tons of coal have been consumed in the railroad yards of the New York Central Lines near Erie where a large stock pile caught fire early in December and has been burning ever since.

Workers are reportedly making headway in fighting the blaze by dousing the pile with water. Early attempts to block the fire were hindered by the December 11 blizzard.

Sister, Civilian Internee, Freed

Mrs. James Gilbert Thomas, Sister Of Loy H. Patterson, Released In Philippines

Mrs. Regny Patterson, of 18 East Grant street, has received official word from Washington, D. C., that her daughter, Mrs. James Gilbert Thomas, together with Mr. Thomas and their five-year old daughter Jane, who were interned at Santos Tomas camp in the Philippines, have been rescued and their condition is good.

Mrs. Thomas is a sister of Loy H. Patterson, of the above address.

Mr. Thomas is a bacteriologist with the Winthrop Chemical Company, who with his family had been living in Manila for only seven months at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack. Prior to that they had been residents of Honolulu, Brooklyn, N. Y., and Pittsburgh.

Their daughter celebrated her fifth birthday on the day that U. S. troops liberated Santos Tomas.

Newlyweds Almost Honeymoon In Jail

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—A sailor and his newlywed bride don't think much of practical jokers.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Larsen, were married at the Episcopal church at Vancouver, Wash., and drove away on clouds of married bliss. But unbeknownst to them, an anonymous "friend" called Vancouver police and reported their car had been stolen from in front of the church.

The newlyweds came back to earth with a jolt when a Portland policeman with drawn gun ordered them to the curb. Larsen fished out "all kinds of papers" to prove who he was, but police thought it would be well to make doubly sure and took them to the police station.

They soon were released amid congratulations and best wishes, but by that time everybody agreed that the joke was very impractical.

GOOD SAMARITAN
SOUTH BEND, Wash.—(INS)—Assigned to act as an executioner for a stray dog, Deputy Sheriff Jim Anderson instead became a friend in need for the homeless waif. When Anderson found the dog it turned out to be a companionable and friendly colie. So instead of shooting the stray, he found it a home on a farm.

It is said that the first waif ever composed was "Ach du lieber Augustin," which was written in 1770.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 23.—The House-approved resolution which on the surface appears to end the introduction of most legislation after March 12 really means little or nothing, according to several assemblymen.

Majority Leader Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, of Lehigh, and Minority Chieftain Hiram G. Andrews of Cambria, prohibits new legislation after that date "except" for appropriation and revenue measures and bills "ordered drafted" prior to the deadline.

Robert Frye, director of the legislative reference bureau, said more than 200 bills would be turned out in his bureau.

Other measures, however, may be drafted elsewhere for legislators.

Since the session opened, approximately 1100 bills have been thrown into the legislative hopper.

It is common knowledge among newspapermen assigned to the legislature that a full gallery of speakers in either House or Senate will spark a prolonged burst of oratory on any subject dear to the hearts of lawmakers.

A recent session was no exception.

Greenmakers covered pollution, an address by Governor Martin, an attack on "government by commissions and bureau," told joke and put on what amounted to a free show for the visitors.

A bill revising the salary schedule for more than 61,000 school teachers has been introduced in the House for the Pennsylvania State Education Association by Republican representatives Fred P. Hare of Somerset, and Thomas H. Lee, of would be postponed. Much opposition is expected if legislation carrying out the ideas is introduced but many assemblymen feel that a teacher doing a better job than another deserves more consideration.

A brother, Joseph DeGennaro is in the navy, and another brother was injured while in service and was discharged.

Wampum Boy Scouts To Collect Paper

Saturday, March 3, has been set by the Boy Scouts of Wampum as the day to collect waste paper with the Wampum Rotary Club sponsoring the collection.

Wampum citizens are asked to have their waste paper bundled and on the curbs in front of their homes before noon on collection day.

Freight gross ton miles for the first half of 1944 amounted to 823,000,000, according to the Office of Defense Transportation, an increase of 106 per cent over the pre-war year 1939.

Red Cross Proud Of Blood Donors

Splendid Record Is Made
During Past Year By
Lawrence County
Citizens

Lawrence County made a fine record during 1944 in the Red Cross blood donor service. During the three trips of the mobile blood unit to the County, a total of 6,141 pints of blood was given for plasma for the armed forces.

Because residents of Lawrence County and other counties throughout the country have given of their blood, thousands of boys wounded in action will return to their homes fully recovered, instead of succumbing to shock and loss of blood which have in the past caused so many deaths from wounds.

While the processing of the blood into plasma and shipping it to the war fronts are handled by the Army and Navy, the solicitation of donors and local arrangements for blood collections are under the jurisdiction of the Red Cross.

Here in New Castle the Red Cross has made an enviable record by exceeding the blood quota assigned to the unit while in town. The quota is approximately the maximum capacity of the unit and with few exceptions, of all the days it was located here, reservations were made and kept with clock-like precision so that the unit was always operating at capacity. Few, if any, communities in Western Pennsylvania have equaled New Castle's record with the mobile blood unit.

SOME DAY THIS WAR WILL END

There is a war on and naturally there are shortages. However, in some places, there is an alleged shortage of courtesy—in a majority of cases unknown to the owner or proprietor. Courtesy should never be "rationed". Traveling around one hears such utterances as follows from employees and customers:

"Got any ham?"

"Are you kiddin'?"

"How about some cigarettes?"

"If we had any cigarettes we'd smoke 'em ourselves."

"Mashed potatoes, not home fried please."

"You take what we have. Don't you know there's a war on?"

"Could you save these points and when it comes in, get us some?"

"Yes."

"Any points required for that?"

"Not now but if you wait until tomorrow there may be."

"Just think of it, we're out of points and can't buy a chicken!"

"Why not build a coop and set a hen next spring?"

"It's a shame. I wanted a whole pound of butter and could only get half a pound."

"What?—points for tomato juice? I'm sure glad I grew a lot of tomatoes in my garden last summer."

"Every try raising carrots. That juice is good, too."

"Are these vegetables fresh?"

"As fresh as you are."

City Will Not Issue Bonds To Pay For Future Plant Repairs

This city is the only one in the Beaver dam district which has not complied with the requirements of the state health department, according to a letter received by solons from H. E. Moses, chief engineer, state health department, Harrisburg.

In view of this Mr. Moses asked the city to issue sufficient bonds to pay or so doing although he said the city could, if desired, withhold the aid until such time as the city wanted the work done. At present a new trunk sewer is being built.

Sometime ago council decided that the city would not issue any bonds until the councilmen decided the time had arrived to do the work.

However, the state health department has been insisting that the city carry out what the district engineer, C. H. Young, claims, was failure to keep a promise to issue the bonds. Mayor John F. Haven and Councilman Joseph D. Alexander desired an official reply be made to Mr. Young. However, while a resolution was adopted no negative reply was sent to him.

Chief Engineer Moses reported in his letter he had observed there had been no reply, hence Councilman Alexander said that he would as property director, reply to the letter to let Mr. Moses know how the city council feels.

Finance Director Hoyland has taken the attitude the state body is attempting to tell the city how to conduct its finances. He said to issue bonds, then withhold them is not good financing.

Councilman James Gibson remarked that no one knows how much the equipment needed will cost or what the job will run.

Councilman D. O. Davies said the city would issue the bonds when the city deemed the right time had arrived.

Councilman Alexander maintained an answer should be given hence he said he would forward one from his office saying "no bond issue now."

Girl Scouts Begin To Play Exhibition For Birthday Week

Groups Will Put On Demonstration Of Work In Downtown Windows March 11

Celebrating the beginning of Girl Scouting 33 years ago when 24 girls gathered in the home of Juliette Low in Savannah, Ga., local Girl Scout troops are already preparing for the window exhibitions which they will be giving in downtown store windows on Monday, March 11, from 4:30 until 8:30.

The exhibitions will demonstrate the different phases of scout training showing just how extensive its program is. According to Mrs. Harry Wettich, a member of the Lawrence County Council, its purpose is to help the girls realize the ideals of service in the home and in the community.

Educational lines have been follow in carrying out the scout program, Mrs. Wettich explained. Love of the out-of-doors, practical knowledge of homemaking, arts and crafts and health have all been stressed.

To show this to the public, groups of girls will in turn give demonstrations of arts and crafts, health and safety, music and dancing, international friendship, sports and games, community life, literature and dramatics, homemaking, out-of-doors life and nature.

The younger girls will take part during the earlier hours and the older girls will do more advanced work later.

Local Soldiers Defend Camp Post

Sgt. Cornelius Cowhey And Pfc. Dick Lewis In 'Battle Of The Bulge'

Dave Lewis of 212 East Long avenue has received a letter from Sgt. H. S. Horney, Jr., formerly of Andrews street, enclosing a clipping from the 'Stars and Stripes', soldiers' newspaper overseas.

The item states: "With the Fourth Infantry Division—the Park Hotel in Berdorf (Belgium) had five elaborately furnished floors, radio in every room. It made a classy camp post for Co. F, 12th Inf. Reg. Then came the German counter-offensive. Cooks, runners, supply men and others defended the camp post from windows on all five floors. They held out for five days, but each day the Jerries knocked a floor off the hotel, until finally the Yanks were firing from behind rubble in the cellar. Everybody found good hunting. T-4 Jeremiah Casey, a cook from Boston, knocked a Nazi bazooka out of action. Pvt. Walter Schumann of New Rochelle, N. Y., cook, left his stove long enough to destroy a machine gun. Heroism of soldiers who seldom had to fire weapons made this stand possible."

Among the runners who took part in this gallant stand were Sgt. Cornelius Cowhey and Pfc. Dick Lewis of New Castle.

Rice was arrested by Detectives W. G. McMullen and John Moore.

According to city officials, a penny slot machine and a punchboard were seized in the place.

WITH THE U.S. FLEET MARINE FORCE ON IWO JIMA, Feb. 23.—Japanese forces today squeezed every possible advantage out of Iwo Jima's terrible terrain.

Hidden in these hideous hills and volcanic crags, which comprise the most rugged battle ground in the Pacific, the enemy has made use of heavy caliber guns and mortar fire than in any previous island defense, and, once again, has succeeded in reducing the fight to almost a man-to-man basis.

Nearly Hand to Hand
Clawing forward over rocky-cratered lava formations that look more like pictures of the moon than anything we have seen on this planet, the Marines find the battle far more personal than the broad strategy implies. It was something else to them beside a matter of Leathernecks trying to wrest a fortress island from the enemy so that American bombers will have only a three-hour flight to Tokyo. It was at the same time a series of bloody little battles in which squads of 10 men—sometimes one man alone—seized a pillbox or a camouflaged rifle pit. It was the volcanic sand and rock blood and the volcanic mud, cold rain and this fanatical foe—all rolled into one package.

Look Like Firemen
Down on the southern tip of the island, where the 28th Marines under Col. Harry Liverage of Pine Grove, Calif., surrounded the base of Suribachi volcano, the Leathernecks looked more like firemen fighting a skyscraper blaze than devil does killing Japs.

The Marines were preparing to scramble up the steep barren slopes of 554-foot Suribachi. The Japanese, trapped in the top of this cratered bastion of rock, dropped grenades on the Yanks. Casualties were caused, but the Marines disposed of more than a dozen enemy snipers.

Human hands could have built no more formidable fort than Suribachi, but they did improve its defensive works. It is some 500-yards in diameter. Caves have been built into its side, and they probably are connected by underground tunnels. Trails leading to its defunct crater are blocked by pillboxes, each covered with bunkers.

At least eight of the Suribachi garrison, however, already have preferred the company of "honorable ancestors" to the impending capture of their crag fortress by Marines. Col. Liverage reported that these Japanese soldiers, battered by continual Naval gunfire and bombing, leaped from the height of Suribachi to a suicidal death on the island's eastern coastline.

These eight were among the hundreds of dead Japanese that have been counted.

FARM CENSUS TO BE TAKEN SOON

Quinquennial Census To Be Taken This Year By Federal Government, Census Bureau States

According to an announcement from the district office at Erie, the bureau of census of the department of commerce is making plans for conducting the quinquennial farm census, taken every five years.

The census this year will be more important than at any time in the nation's history, as it will give the government a clear idea of the nation's food stock, and is also important to such agencies as the farm credit administration, soil conservation office, and department of agriculture. It is also pointed out that up-to-date agricultural statistics will be of fundamental importance in planning the reconversion of agriculture and industry from a wartime to a peacetime economy.

Securities Dealers Given Suspension

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(INS)—E. H. Rollins & Sons, Inc., securities dealers, was under a 60-day suspension today from the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., on a charge of fraudulent handling of special accounts for the board of missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

The Securities and Exchange Commission, in Philadelphia, also revoked the broker-dealer registration of Walter Cecil Rawls, manager of the firm's St. Louis office, who is accused on the same charge as the firm.

Rawls and his brother, J. F. Rawls of Nashville, Tenn., were charged with engaging in "secret" transactions involving securities which were sold to the church group at marked-up prices. Profits from the transactions, the commission said, went to the Rawls brothers instead of the church fund.

Grant Priorities For Construction Of Two Pipe Lines

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—The WPB acted today to avert another natural gas shortage in the Appalachian area by granting a high priority for construction of two pipeline projects in the southwest by Nov. 7, 1945, at an estimated cost of 12 million dollars.

One project involves the addition of four compressor stations on the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co. pipeline from Monroe, La. to West Virginia. These stations will be built near Greenville, Miss., Middleton and Springfield, Tenn., and Frenchburg, Ky.

WPB estimated that the two projects would make possible an additional 60 million cubic feet of gas daily to the Appalachian area. They will cost approximately 5 million dollars.

The other project involves the

Ambridge Here Tonight, Final Of 1945 Season

New Castle Seeks To Avenge Earlier Defeat At Hands Of Ambridge High

BILL ANDREWS TO PLAY FINAL GAME

New Castle High school basketball team will play its final game of the 1945 floor season tonight at George Washington gym floor, battling the Ambridge High team in a section Three game postponed earlier by the coal shortage. New Castle hopes to avenge a 36 to 32 defeat at Ambridge in January.

The Third U. P. team of the New Castle Church league will play the New Castle High Junior Varsity in the preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

Final for Andrews
Tonight marks the end of the basketball career of young Bill Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Andrews of 123 East Garfield avenue. As in football, young Andrews has given his best to the basketball squad, he ranks as one of the greatest floor performers to ever don a New Castle High uniform.

Andrews is in the same category as Davey Hoskins, Walt Fulkerson, Joe Hartman, Len Friedman, Andy Hartman, Bus Strausbaugh, Pop Adams and Bus Reiber for cleverness on the hardwood court. He can do everything that a basketball player should do and he does it right. Smart, with basketball sense, Andrews has held the New Castle team together when the going got rough. To say that Bill is going to be missed next year when basketball and football season rolls around would be like saying you wouldn't miss your right arm. In the parlance of newspapers Andrews is a "natural athlete", very few are born with that gift.

Getting through along with Andrews is Ray Owoc, a lad who deserves credit for the way he stepped into the vacancy caused by the graduation of Eddie Jackson, a fine player, and has given his best to the squad. He is an aggressive guard, not much for scoring, but a good floor worker.

As a nucleus next year Coach Phil Bridenbaugh will have such stars as Al Koszela, Dick Whittaker, and Pete Stack left from the starting varsity, which is pretty fair material, in anybody's league.

Ambridge High tied with New Castle for fifth place in the league will be tough tonight, but our guess is that New Castle will end the 1945 season in a blaze of glory.

NEW CASTLE NEWS SPORTS

FAIR or FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—When it comes to taking it on the chin in the interest of the war effort, sports apparently can do it more gracefully than some of our other enterprises. The sports world in this country has set out to do it just that way—to comply with what the government wants without any squawks. One sport, baseball, seems to be going around with its hat in its hands seeking favors, but we will go into that later.

Take horse racing for instance. There hasn't been an official squawk of any kind since the tracks were closed down in January. Occasionally some individual has stuck his head up and popped off, but he was promptly slapped down by his own people, and racing is coasting along waiting for Washington to say when the tracks may reopen.

Can't Take It

In the meantime New York's night clubs have been caught in the nationwide midnight curfew starting next Monday night.

So what happens? A mass meeting was held in one of our midtown joints and you would think from the hurt expressions and the general babbling that every one of our night club proprietors had been ordered to join the Marines and get shot at on some of these invasions we are now carrying out.

The night clubs can't take it. At least they are not taking it without a beef. Yet they are not being put out of business. They can still sather in the suckers until midnight. Racing was put entirely out of business. And racing mind you, didn't squawk.

Babesball Looks Bad

Baseball is about to make itself look bad. I reported last week that Ford Frick had told some of the members of the press that he did not plan to go to Washington, but that he had no appointment with officials.

That was duly published, but I knew then that he had told at least one reporter and asked that it be kept off the record, that he and Will Harridge, president of the American league, had laid the groundwork for the current conference with Washington officials.

Frick, as president of the National league, was trying to kid some body, and still is.

The truth of all this is that baseball is seeking favors in Washington but refusing to admit that the so-called national game is asking for any edge over other sports.

Beating Around Bush

The longer this war lasts, the worse the baseball people look. They are getting themselves in the same category with the operators of New York's boob traps who met and decided to start a billboard campaign saying that War Mobilizer Byrnes is throwing in with the prohibition forces in calling off night club entertainment after midnight.

I think the horse people would like nothing better than to be allowed a restricted racing program such as this night club deal that the night club operators are beefing about. The horse people will accept anything they can get, but meantime they are not beefing.

As I said at the outset, the longer this war lasts the better the sports people look, with racing taking the lead. If baseball will quit beating around the bush and accept whatever its fate may be, the war record of sports will be nearly perfect.

New Wilmington To Play Mercer

Coach Timmy Hutchison Will Put Section 21 Champs Through Paces Tonight

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 23.—As a prelude, to the W.P.I.A.L. Class B tourney game, at New Castle's Washington High gym, Monday night, with Zellenople High, the New Wilmington rampaging Greyhounds will play Mercer tonight, at the Community House floor.

Coach Timmy Hutchison will give his Section 21 champions a real work tonight. Mercer will be tough and will provide the right kind of opposition to put the Greyhounds in shape for the tough tussle Monday at New Castle.

Hundreds of New Wilmington fans will be on hand at the game tonight to acclaim the sectional champions, and to watch the topnotchers in action.

Junior Church Games Saturday

Six more games will be played in the Junior church basketball league at the "Y" Saturday. The games are as follows:

BESSEMER HIGH NUDGES UNION

Score Is 46 To 42 In Section 21 Game: Korab, Byers High-Scoring Stars

Playing his final game for Union High school in Section 21, last night, Ben Korab, star forward, covered himself with a blaze of glory, as he blasted in 16 of the Union points, in the 46 to 42 defeat, handed the Unionites, by Bessemer High school.

Korab by his exhibition last night, one of his many such performances, gained a spot on the All-Section 21 team and the All-County, along with such stars as Bennett, Grimm, C. Tanner, Anderson, and Coblenz.

The victory was the seventh for Bessemer in the loop against four reverses. It was Union's eighth loss against four wins. Bessemer has one game left with Shenango at Shenango next Tuesday.

All of the Union team played well last night, especially Kreuger, Larry Rotunno and Betts, who will graduate along with Korab. In the Bessemer lineup the "Big Three" were: Donaldson, Byers and Nelson, with all but four of the 46 points between them. Byers being outstanding with 21 points.

Left as a nucleus next year, Coach Wilb Patterson will have: Conti, Taylor, Smith and Bigley, all with plenty of varsity experience.

Lou Novikoff Sent To Coast

Chicago Cubs Send Mad Russian Back To Minors For Weak Hitting

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Lou Novikoff, who was a rampaging fence buster in the Minors but just a bust with the Chicago Cubs, was back today on the roster of the Los Angeles club whence he came in 1941.

Cub officials in announcing the Mad Russian's outright release to their West Coast farm club after all other 15 Major league clubs had waived on him, gave the impression the colorful player never again would wear a Cub uniform.

When he came to the Cubs with Infielder Lou Stringer for $100,000 in 1941, he had the most laudatory press notices of any Minor league player since Joe Di Maggio. He was a sensation and a batting champion in every league he played.

On donning a Cub uniform he promptly became a mediocre player, his .300 batting record in 1942 being his best.

Buckeyes Must Defeat Illinois

(International News Service)

A crippled University of Illinois basketball squad will meet Ohio State at Columbus tonight in a game which may well decide final Buckeye standings in the Western Conference title race.

The Buckeyes, with eight victories and two defeats, now rank third in conference standings. The Illini have won seven while losing one to trail the pace-setting Iowa Hawkeyes by 913 percentage points. The Hawkeyes have a record of eight conference triumphs against one defeat.

Unless the Buckeyes can reverse last week's decisive 56-41 defeat at the hands of the Illini at Champaign, they face almost certain elimination from title competition. They have one more scheduled game, a contest with Indiana at Columbus tomorrow night.

CARDINALS WIN

The Cardinals nosed out the Pirates last night in a House league game at the "Y" 34 to 33 when Hill of the Cards caged a field goal, with only two seconds left to play.

Sugar Robinson Great Fighter Jacobs Declares

Promoter Terms Ray 'Sugar' Robinson Greatest Fighter Alive Today

FAVORED TO BEAT LAMOTTA TONIGHT

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Ring-wise veterans of Cauliflower Row call Ray (Sugar) Robinson the uncrowned welterweight champion of the world. That's praise enough for any fighter, but Promoter Mike Jacobs rates him even higher than that.

"Robinson," said Mike today, "is not only the best welterweight in the world, but he can lick any middleweight or light-heavyweight in the game. And I'm willing to bet that he can lick a lot of those big slow heavyweights. Pound for pound, he's the greatest fighter in the ring today and just about the best the game's developed in the last 50 years."

Lots of Territory

Mike certainly covered a lot of territory in that statement, but he is convinced that the 147-pound Robinson could give away from 50 to 70 pounds to some of our heavyweights and beat them.

Thousands of others must share Mike's estimate of the dusky brawler from Harlem because he has been made a 2 to 1 favorite to beat Mike Lamotta in the Garden tonight and Lamotta has not been asked to make any special weight.

He will fight at the regular middleweight limit of 160 pounds, while Robinson will scale 147.

"This boy Robin has everything, a great fighter needs," said Mike. "He can punch he can take a punch, he has stamina and speed; he is a master boxer; he knows all the angles, and he's smart. Look at his record. He won all of his 39 fights as an amateur, 63 of them by knockouts and 40 of these knockouts were registered in the first round. He has had 54 pro fights and the only one he ever lost was a close decision to Lamotta but he has beaten Lamotta twice and figures to do it again, and Lamotta is rated right behind the middleweight champion, Tony Zale.

Tall for Welter

"Robinson is remarkably tall for a welter. He's just half an inch under six feet and he has the reach of the heavyweight. He could take some of those great big hulking heavyweights and plaster them as if he were using a paint brush. He actually figures to have more trouble with a fast middleweight like Lamotta or a fast light-heavyweight than he would with a slow heavyweight."

We asked one of our biggest bookies what he thought the odds would be if Robinson fought Champion Red Cochrane for the title, and he replied: "Robinson would be a 10 to 1 favorite but there wouldn't be any betting because nobody thinks Cochrane would have a chance. Look at it this way: no promoter would dream of letting Cochrane climb into the same ring with Lamotta, but Robinson is a 2 to 1 favorite over Lamotta. See what I mean?"

Baseball Moguls Start Planning On 1945 Season

Amber Light By ODT Means Baseball Will Be Played But Under Restrictions

NIGHT BASEBALL NOT DISCUSSED

By EARL MARCKREES
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Baseball's 1945 program had an amber light today with traveling schedules cut 25 per cent, the All-Star game cancelled, the World Series in doubt and congressional action on pending manpower legislation still awaited.

Presidents Ford Frick and Will Harridge of the National and American leagues agreed, however, after a two-day conference with government officials that the restrictions still add up to baseball this year—but without the frills.

Part Made Clear

"Our part in the war program is pretty clear now and we are going ahead with our plans," Frick said. "These plans include a four-point 'voluntary' agreement with ODT permitting a 154-game schedule, which is expected to set a travel policy for other sports, and an arrangement to use currently available under-and-over-age and 4-F players."

The transportation agreements directs teams to play games only in the home city of one or the other competing club, eliminates all exhibition contests, except with service squads, cuts club rosters to the minimum on road trips, and urges elimination of all unnecessary travel.

This compact was construed as a possible guide for other sports such as football and basketball. Applied to them, all except "home" games would be prohibited. Thus, such turnstile-twisters as Notre Dame's game with Army and Navy at Yankee stadium and Baltimore and Indianapolis regional basketball contests would be banned.

Both Frick and Harridge were sanguine over the results of their meetings with War Mobilizer James P. Byrnes and ODT Chief J. Monroe Johnson.

No All-Star Game

They had ODT's qualified approval for the continuance of baseball, but they conceded that pending labor legislation and military demands for manpower might have some effect on the overall picture. Elimination of the All-Star game, scheduled for Boston, would prevent some 500 players, club owners, managers, newsmen and attaches, plus thousands of fans, from using overcrowded rail facilities, they pointed out.

Harridge said that the question of electricity for night baseball was not discussed with government officials.

"Not a word was said about it to anyone," he added. Byrnes' midnight curfew order on entertainment places cited excessive use of war-scarce coal and electricity. But Harridge pointed out that baseball games are customarily played during the warm season when fuel is not needed for both heating and electricity.

Titans Battle Juniata Five

Dick Wareham, State's Leading Scorer, Makes Juniata Formidable Foe

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Back in their winning ways again, Westminster College's Titans will attempt to add another victory to their record here tonight when they meet the Juniata College Indians in the next to the last home game.

Although Juniata has one of the district's highest scoring players on their squad in the person of Captain Dick Wareham, the locals should have little difficulty duplicating a previous triumph over the men from Huntington. In a contest last month on the Juniata home court, the Titans had a field day winning 81-40.

Wareham High Scorer
The only veteran on the Indian squad, Wareham is now the state's leading scorer with 187 points per game. Key man in Juniata's offense, the star forward, shoots most of his field goals with one hand. Last season, he placed on the All-State second team.

Last Saturday the Blue and White gave a wallop to a weakened Carnegie Tech quintet, 84-51, in an uneventful game. The Titans' low scores in the string of three losses to Hamilton, Bowling Green, and Pitt brought down their average per game to 68.5 while the opponents' average was raised to 53 for the season.

Remaining games on the Lawrence counties' schedule are with Geneva at Beaver Falls March 1 and with Akron here March 3.

No Horse Racing In Any Community

War Mobilizer Byrnes Defines Racing Ban As Meaning Everywhere

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—(INS)—War Mobilizer James P. Byrnes made it plain Thursday that no exceptions could be made for any localities in his ban on wartime horse racing.

In a letter to Rep. Barry (D-N. Y.) Byrnes said that while the beneficial result of the suspension may not be apparent in the New York City area, "results in other parts of the country have been sufficient to justify the move."

Byrnes, remarks were in reply to a letter from Barry which enclosed a letter and supplementary memorandum from David E. Buckley of New York protesting the ban "from the viewpoint of the small breeders and horse owners, and because of the tax income lost in some states."

Philly Teams Will Cooperate

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23.—(INS)—Herb Pennock, general manager of the Philadelphia Phillies welcomed the green light given baseball by government officials Thursday as "good news."

Pennock declared that "It's very good news as far as baseball and sports in general is concerned—and it's certainly a go ahead."

He said travel restriction and curtailments of few activities would not detract from the sport or hinder the season. Pennock suggested that "An easy way to cut down on the man mileage is by reducing player limits on short trips."

"We're pleased to hear the news and will cooperate in every way, doing anything that will help the war effort," said Roy F. Mack, vice-president and secretary of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Pensacola Tourney Gets Under Way

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 23.—(INS)—The winter golf circuit moved today to Pensacola for the $6,500 Open War Bond Tournament which gets under way today with a field of 75 amateurs and professionals.

Sammy Sneed of Hot Springs, Va., and Byron Nelson of Toledo, who finished one-two in the Gulfport, Miss., meet just closed, and "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me., were the top favorites for the Pensacola.

PENSACOLA OPEN GOLFERS TEE OFF

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 23.—(INS)—Many of the nation's ranking golfers teed off today in the $6,500 Pensacola open tournament after bucking a heavy rain and a soggy course in yesterday's pro-amateur event.

The elements apparently had no effect on the play of Jimmy DeMaret of Corpus Christi, Tex., who posted a 6-under-par 66 in pairing with R. V. Cole, Marine corporal at Corpus Christi, to win the pro-amateur contest with an 8-under-par 64.

Chuck Rutan, Birmingham, Mich., pro, had a 70, but a Detroit amateur, Ed. Fursel, beat this by one stroke, carding a 69.

CASUALTY RECORD

DUNCANNON, Pa.—(INS)—V. S. Hopkins, 67-year-old saw mill operator, chalked up a new casualty record when he became the victim of two accidents within 60 seconds. After his car skidded and upset on the Carlisle-New Bloomfield highway, he crawled out from under it only to be struck by another automobile.

Record Entry In National AAU At Garden Saturday

No Outstanding Performers Slated In Annual, Indoor Track And Field Events

MEDIOCRE FIELD CAUSES ATTENTION

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The National AAU indoor track and field championships usually draw comparatively small fields in all events. This was because outstanding stars usually scared off all mediocre competition.

But the 57th annual meet in Madison Square Garden tomorrow has drawn a record entry of 257 athletes from 21 states. And this, of course, is because the competition in this war year is wide open and everybody thinks he has a chance.

No World Beaters

Actually, everybody has a chance because there are no world beaters among them except veterans who have passed their peak. Some of these, of course, like Navy Lt. Charles Beetham and Barney Ewell, have been record holders in the past, but these, like many others, have long since seen their best racing days.

The meet is studded with entries from both the Army and Navy. In fact, without them the meet would not amount to much. And for the first time the U. S. Military Academy at West Point and the Naval Academy at Annapolis have entered two full squads, both of which hope to upset the New York Athletic club for the team title.

Some of the service men are sure to win several individual titles. We have, for instance, Cpl. Barney Ewell, Ensign Tom Quinn, Sgt. Howie Borck, Herb Thompson of the Coast Guard, Don Kingle of the Air Force, Sgt. Billy Mitchell of the Marines, Lt. Beetham of the Navy, and Sgt. Milt Padway.

Perry Samuel Good

We know what these lads have done in the past and we have a fair idea of what they can do now. But we don't know much about some of the newcomers and it is on these lads that all eyes will be focused.

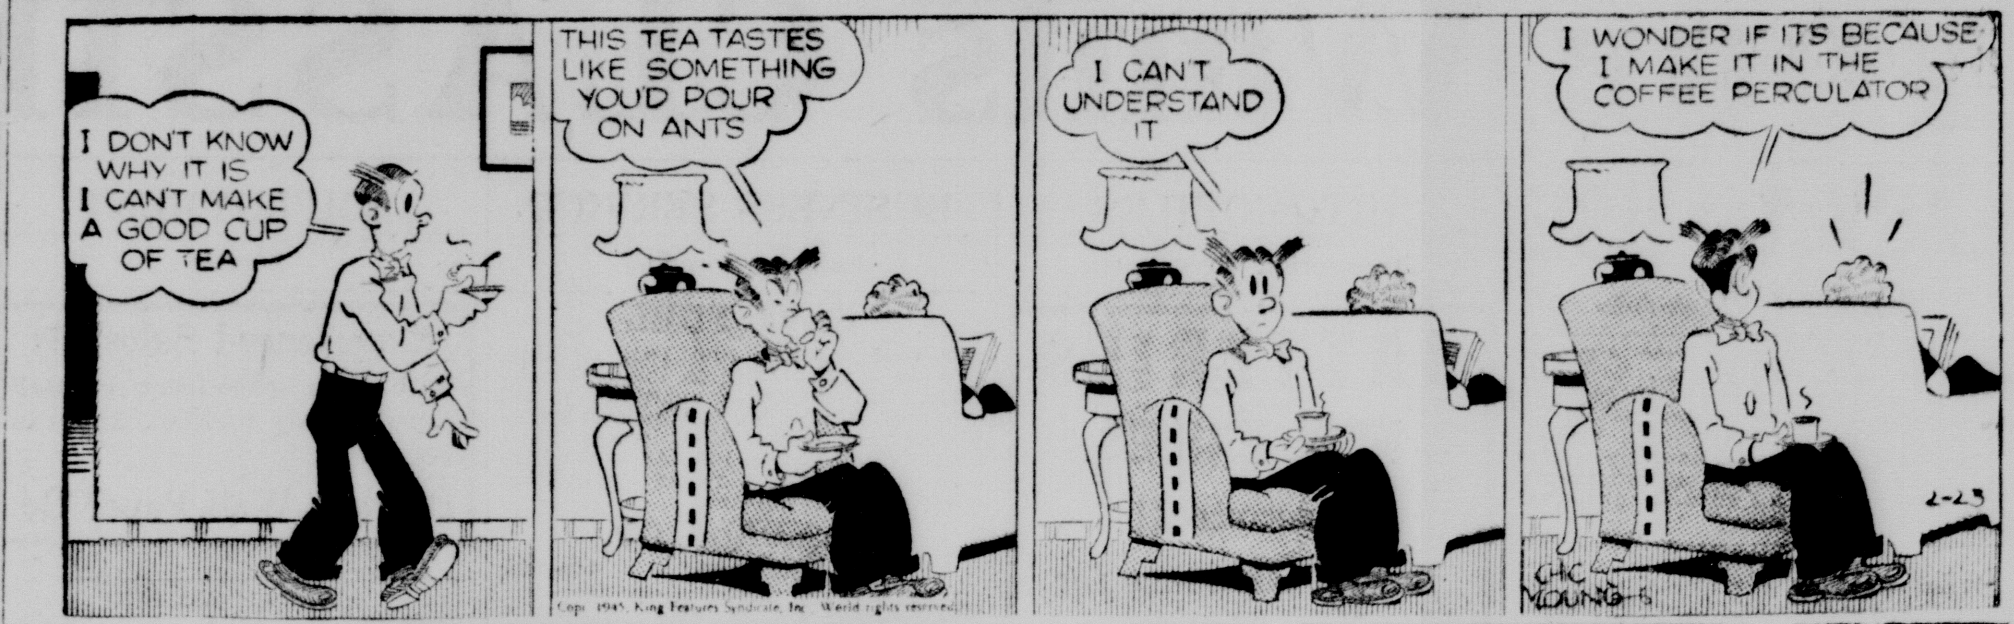

One of the newcomers attracting particular attention is Perry Samuel, a schoolboy sprinter from San Antonio who is said to be a sensation sprinter. He will have to be all of that to beat old Barney Ewell and Thompson who can still pick 'em up and lay 'em down in pretty fair fashion.

Other new challengers who will attract attention are John Caskey, the Navy's 104-A champion sprinter; Lee Holacre of Drake who will try to outstep Jimmy Herbert and other old stars in the 600; Bill Porter, a hurdler from Marquette; Henry Williams from Drake in the 1000; and Ken Wiesner, who recently high-jumped 6 ft. 6 3/8 in. for Marquette. If these lads can live up to their advance notices we may see some record approached. In any event, we are sure to see some stirring competition and that is all any regular track fan asks.

Wampum Is Host To Beaver High

Wampum high school Indians basketball team will be host tonight to the first Beaver High quintet at the Wampum gym. The preliminary game starts at 7 o'clock. Coach Butler Henson will start his strongest lineup tonight in an effort to get back on the winning side. Wampum plans to enter the tri-county round robin tourney to be staged at Union High floor in March, it was announced.
